LAST MEETING: 2/8/12

By: John Chamberlin

OH MY! 300+ people at the last Rotary meeting! Ok, so they weren't all new Rotarians but, that's the idea behind why our club became a sponsor of the Pittsburgh Business Ethics Awards. It gives us the ability to "outreach" to new companies and members within the context if a very large, general event.

So much went on at the meeting- too much to go blow-by-blow but here is a summary. I might have missed a few details while I was enjoying one of the AWESOME cream puff deserts.

All of the guests of the Pittsburgh Business Ethics Awards were seated and welcomed by Larry Richert of KDKA News Radio. Dan Zugell, Chair of the Pittsburgh Business Ethics Awards planning committee then welcomed everyone and explained a few details about the awards and candidates. Then came the Rotary "big guy" President Andy Dlinn. Andy gave a strong, succinct, 3-minute pitch about what Rotary means and why others should want to get involved.

During lunch, we were entertained by a presentation about ethics in the coal and gas industry by the CEO & Chairman of CONSOL Energy, J. Brett Harvey. One key point Mr. Harvey made was how self-sufficient the United States could be given its current domestic resources of coal and natural gas.

NEXT MEETING

Dr. Audrey Murrell, University of Pittsburgh, then explained the Pittsburgh Business Ethics Awards application and selection process.

Presenting the awards and 2012 nominees were, Greg Felton and one of last year's winners, Mona Pappafava-Ray of General Carbide. There's not enough space to list all of the nominees so here is a list of the winners:

Honeywell Electronic Materials PBEA recipient of the Large Company category.

The runner ups for this category were Eaton Corporation and Waste Management.

Mascaro Construction PBEA recipient of the Medium Company category.

The runner ups for this category were ARDEX Americas and IntegraCare Corporation.

Sauereisen, Inc. PBEA recipient of the Small Company category.

The runner ups for this category were Baker's Waterproofing and Sarris Candies.

We then had closing remarks from Tom Petsche, a National Representative of the Society of Financial Service Professionals. He thanked everyone for their time and participation and the event was brought to an end by 1:40pm.

It's a Great Day for Rotary!
