Our speaker is member Carl Johnson. He is an avid White Tale hunter but he hasn't gotten one yet this year. How do you set up land for property under 500 acres? The deer's home range is about that size. The deer need cover, food and water. He keeps deer in his area by providing a bedding place/cover. Females bed in family groupings and bucks bed separately. He creates a canopy and then clears out underneath to make it inviting. Then he knows from where they are coming and where they are going. He also puts in sneak tunnels from points of interest like bed to water and then puts in mock scrapes to keep them interested. It is likely that deer will return year after year. He is a bow hunter.
