PHOTOS!

by Erik Jorgensen

Thanks to some recent improvements to our system, we can now publish real photographs (not just "thumbnails" in the Windjammer. This is an exciting Development that has been a long time coming. It's just the first of several upgrades that will be taking place on the Portland Rotary Website soon.

Our inaugural image is of the most recent Portland Rotary Ski outing last week! On the left, front to back, Kris Rosado, Paul T. Gore and Bill Blount; on the Right, Amy Chipman, Peter Goffin, Ellen Niewoehner, and Paul Tully

If you have pictures you'd like to see in "the Jammer", send them along.

THIS WEEK: TIME WARNER TODAY AND TOMORROW

by John Marr

Time Warner is our local cable provider and like every utility they are often the victim of their own success. We expect them to be ever at the ready and love them when they do exactly as we wish.

However, because they are so big, and the world of technology makes everything all the more complex, they are bound to have some down time and be subject of criticism.

The days of stodgy old Ma Bell and elaborate antennae on our houses are long gone and that's probably a good thing. At first we were satisfied to get the multitude of channels that cable promised and now it's morphed into our high speed internet provider for our computers and even gives us our telephone connections, if you so desire.

But, this is today and yesterday, there's much more to come. AT this weeks meeting, TWC's Keith Burkley, who heads up our provider network, will give us a glimpse into the future.

LAST WEEK: SNOW FLAKES KEEP ON FALLING

by John Marr

What a winter it has been! I can't blame the snowbirds for retreating to the warm climes of Florida. However, those of us who must remain here in Maine get our batteries recharged every Friday by attending our Portland Rotary Club meeting. I understand that Governor LePage, in part due to his deference to President Rick, did not chide us for cancelling our meeting last week. Unfortunately, this meant that we did not get to hear from Doctors Liz and Roger Fagan with respect to the most recent recent Hearts For Hearing mission they made to the Dominican Republic.

We hope that we can find a time to reschedule. Just as we hope that we don't have to cancel any further meetings. Given the age demographics of our state, we have to think of safety of travel whether it be in the car or on foot.

BITS & PIECES

by John Marr

If Bill Blount can't be playing tennis, his next favorite thing is to be skiing and he is able to gather just as sizable a crowd on the slopes of Sunday River as he does on the courts of The Racquet Club. Just before the big snow fall a contingent of Rotarians made their way to Newry and safely conquered the slopes.

THE BRAINS BEHIND THE OPERATION

Often time this writer gets more credit for getting out the Windjammer than he deserves. Without the assistance of Erik Jorgensen and Dick Hall we would still be sending this newsletter out by snail mail. Erik takes the articles and puts them into the electronic "Clubrunner" form and Dick helps us figure out the mysteries, such as how to paste and publish pictures, which has befuddled us for months. Thanks, guys, for your help, it's great to work with you!

IS SHE OR ISN'T SHE?

Recently we enjoyed hearing from Tim Hussey, of Hussey Seating, with regard to his family business and the ties to the Ramallah Friends School in Palestine. Alan Cartwright associated the name with our District Governor, Ann Lee Hussey, and has started an inquiry to confirm or deny the link. We hope that Wikileaks will soon provide the proof positive answer.

ALWAYS IN TOUCH!

For years the den mother of the Portland Rotary Club was Ruth Fletcher. Ruth had to take her leave and head south but will never forget her friends in Rotary. She remains warmly ensconced in her new digs but has changed her email address, which is now skimsyey@charter.net. She'd love to hear from you and looks forward to every issue of the Windjammer to find out what's going on with her den.

DON'T MISS IT!

On Thursday, February 3rd, Ms Mezzo Soprano, Kathy Grammer is giving a concert at the First Parish Church located on Congress St, in Downtown Portland. Kathy will be accompanied by Charles Grindle, on piano, and will sing some American favorites as well as some Broadway Show tunes. It will begin at noon time and is a perfect way to spend your lunch.

TWO NEW SONG LEADERS

Kathy Grammer and , her Majesty, Queen Peggy Wescott , has recruited two new song leaders. Mike Fortunato and Kris Rosado , have come out of the shower and decided to help the music committee.
