Hemstreet came to Loudoun County from the City of Miami Beach, Fla., where he had held management positions since April 2001. To go beyond the titles, Mr. Hemstreet's responsibilities included serving as the lead staff person for managing and developing City owned-property, staff oversight of the City's development and redevelopment policies and regulations for private property, development and management of parking facilities, including both surface and structured parking, and he also served as the lead person for the City's many private/public joint ventures. Live Nation, Smith & Wollensky Restaurants, and The New World Symphony are just a few of the private entities with which he has negotiated long term agreements on City property. His responsibilities also included Economic Development, which focused on the recruitment of new businesses, but also the retention and expansion of existing businesses through the streamlining of administrative procedures and policies.

Before joining the City of Miami Beach, he held several management positions with the Cities of Tamarac and Hollywood, Fla. He served as Assistant City Manager and Finance and Policy Officer for the City of Tamarac.
