Volume 2, Issue 25

January 12, 2012

Rotary Welcomes Catherine Read

Catherine S. Read, President and Founder of Creative Read, Inc. helps businesses and professionals throughout the Washington, DC area harness the power of social media and online tools for marketing and business development strategies. Social Media technologies became a focus of this strategy as they proliferated across the web and attracted millions of users worldwide. It became a matter of learning to fish where the fish are.

As the pace of technology and social media continues to change at increasing speed, the need to adapt and leverage these new tools becomes even greater.

Creative Read, Inc. which was founded in April 2007, provides consulting services, hands-on group workshops, on-site seminars and custom programs. A graduate of George Mason University, a former human resource professional, and small business owner, Catherine also provides keynote presentations and advisory services.
