Guest Speaker – Mike Langton

Mike Langton, CEO of Forrest Personnel (FP) made a first class presentation at our meeting. Key points included:

- FP have 61 people servicing 11 offices; soon to open one in Kalgoorlie.
- FP only gets paid if they find someone a job, and keep them there, and are paid 13 and 26 weeks after that. In these conditions, Mike has led FP to a massive positive financial turnaround.
- He dispelled a few myths about employing those with a disability, including
 - 10 times cheaper to recruit someone with a disability
 - Accident rate 5 times lower than those without a disability
- He related the case of a soldier who broke his neck and has been able to find fulfilling work.

Thanks Mike. Forrest Personnel is in good hands, and will continue to make a great contribution to the community.

Children's Fair

A huge accolade to Peter Hill for organising a very successful Children's Fair. There were very many positive comments of appreciation. Well done Peter! He thanked members and partners and everyone who helped, noting that 50-55 people are needed on the day.

Can Peter pass the Children's Fair Organiser baton on to you over the next two years? He has other commitments coming up, and will assist you in 2015, so you will be ready to fly solo in 2016.

Sail into Life News (from KBSC newsletter)

Minister Sails into Life

Disability Services Minister Helen Morton took to the waters of Koombana Bay during the Liberal Party's recent visit to Bunbury.

Mrs Morton was so impressed with what Sail into Life Coordinator Sharon Kavanagh and Committee member John Bridgeham told her about the program at the sundowner at KBSC on February 11, that she decided to try it out.

She abandoned lunch with her colleagues and spent the time meeting Sail into Life participants and trying sailing for the first time.

Sail into Life Volunteer Rob Turner took Mrs Morton for a sail around the moored yachts while explaining about the program and how KBSC aims to make sailing accessible to all ages and abilities.

Sail into Life to try Twilight sailing next week

A small group of keen sailors from the Sail into Life program will come to Twilight Sailing next Wednesday.

Sail into Life Coordinator Sharon Kavanagh said the sailors had learned basic sailing skills on the access dinghies and were very keen to take it to the next level.

"For KBSC to be a truly inclusive sailing club for all abilities, as we are promoting, it would be great to be able to offer the sailors an opportunity to join in the fun," Sharon said.

"We are hoping for a great evening on the water, a meal at the club, and a beer with the skipper and crew."
