Dear Mr. Vuillemot and Rev. Sikhosana:

On behalf of the Bulawayo Library in Zimbabwe, I am writing to express my deepest gratitude for your recent donation of 20 000 copies mostly children's books. Generous gifts from donors like you provide the educational support needed to continue our mission.

Mr. Vuillemot, you've demonstrated your deep commitment as founder of Books for the World to our efforts of educating future leaders of Zimbabwe. Your support played a key role in our success in reducing illiteracy in third world nations, reducing crime in inner cities, etc. You did not only bless children and teenagers in Zimbabwe but your vision has touched the whole world.

Rev. Blessed Sikhosana, thank you for initiating this wonderful gift of children's books. I am proud of your kind heart and efforts in reaching out to help educate young people in your own native homeland of Bulawayo, Zimbabwe. You are a silent heroess to your own country.

There is no way to fully express our gratitude to both of you for making a huge difference in our children's lives. We at the Bulawayo Library in Zimbabwe are continually inspired by your dedication to education, literacy and generosity from donors like yourself who answer the call to give again and again. I will always be indebted to both of you for all your kindness. It is my sincere hope that this letter will help to communicate our very big thanks for your generosity.

I believe in the motto "Engage Rotary, & Change Lives". Yes, you have definitely made a huge difference in educating the underprivileged communities in Zimbabwe.

I look forward to a continuing partnership with you.

Sincerely,

Letshani Ndlovu
