

Centennial Moment #23

From The Evening Examiner, Peterborough, Wednesday, March 7, 1923:

THE CAUSALITIES WILL BE HEAVY

Rotarians and Kiwanians Play Hockey This Evening.

If they hear ambulances tearing madly through the streets this evening and sounds of battle resound on the March air, local citizens are notified that these disturbances will mean that the Rotary - Kiwanis hockey game is underway.

The two teams meet at Brock Street Rink to-night, and casualties are expected to be heavy. Both outfits are under orders to hold the trenches until "cease fire" is sounded.

Only two rules will be observed: Use no hooks and bury your own dead.

Nothing else is barred, not even the stranglehold.

There is no limit to the number of substitutes. As fast as a man is carried off, a new player will start, so that it is expected there will be enough reserves to finish the game.

Both sides are confident.

A barber member of the Rotarians says the cog wheels will win easily. The question seems to be is Eddie Wright ?

If Harold Parker is worth three or four goals to the Kiwanians, somebody wants to know what is Joe Worth?

Last year, Nagle Phelan tried to put the kill in Killaly. But tonight is another night.

Better get in line early. It looks like the game of the year.

So what happened?? Who won?? Answers tomorrow!!
