JANUARY BOOK CLUB SELECTION

There's no better way to spend these cold winter days and nights than reading a really great book. Thanks to the Rotary Book Club, you don't even have to search for the perfect title – they've already done the work for you. Their latest selection is Trespasses by Louise Kennedy. Named a best book of the year by The Washington Post, this debut novel set in Northern Ireland during the Troubles, is about a young woman caught between alliance to community and a dangerous passion. Get your copy today and mark your calendar for January 18th at 5pm at the John I Haas Innovation Center for great fun, fellowship, and discussion.
