ROVING REPORTER

Tom Youngblood

-- John Mozena held a Rotary fireside chat for 6 red-badgers and it sounds like they had a good time while learning about Rotary.

-- David Eardley's son just graduated from high school and will be attending classes at Macomb Community College in the fall. Congratulations!

-- Our intern, Anna, says she had a good time at GP South's graduation and the class overnight party on 6/5.

-- Mark Weber's daughter, a U of M professor, was recognized as a top 10 scientist to watch in Science News Magazine and his son is now a prosecuting attorney for Hillsdale County.

SUNSHINE NEWS

have been sent out for this event on 6/28. Please RSVP as soon as possible to show support for President Mark's year.

-- A Club fundraising Gala is being planned for New Year's Eve. Kim Towar is looking for help in 3 areas:
(1) members to join the planning committee, (2) contact info for 3 to 5 couples who would be good attendees, and (3) an honorary chair. Contact Kim ASAP if able to help.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

Brian Peterson-Roest, BEES in the D Founder.

Bees in the D is a nonprofit located in downtown Detroit. It represents a cooperative effort between residents, schools, organizations, and businesses in the Metro Detroit area to contribute to both the health of honeybee colonies and the education of their importance to our environment.

Honeybees live in hives and their members are divided into three groups. (1) the queen runs the whole hive and can live up to 5 years. Her job is to lay eggs (up to 2,500/day in the summer) and she produces chemicals that guide the behavior of other bees. (2) workers, female bees that forage for food and build and protect the hive. These are the ones you see flying around the hive. (3) Drones are the male bees and their purpose to is to mate with the queen.

Honeybees are important pollinators for flowers, fruits, and vegetables.
They are the only insect that produces something for human consumption.
Hives are all over the metro area, including two at the GPYC, which uses the honey that is produced.
