ROVING REPORTER

Doris Neal-Van Tiem

-- Past-President, John Maliskewski will be at the Lunch Bunch on Friday.

-- Phil MacKethan's son is engaged to be married.

-- Liz Vogel has posted (Facebook) beautiful photos of their travels throughout Europe.

OIL CAN

Ted Everingham gave the oil can to Rebecca Fannon for performing the Heimlich maneuver on Jackie Dale on our recent Club Forum!

SUNSHINE NEWS

Please keep in your thoughts and prayers:

-- Bill Scott's wife, Jackie, who has had to undergo surgery to repair damage sustained through falls to knee surgery she went through in August.

-- Former Rotarian, Gary Niehaus, who spent a week in hospital, fighting a very severe virus for the second time.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

-- The Moross Greenway Fall Clean-up last weekend was a success. Steve Cornillie thanked all the volunteers.

-- Upcoming November volunteer opportunities: the food drive at GP Memorial Church on 11/12; preparing turkeys to be distributed by Crossroads; and being a marshall at the GP Santa parade.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

-- -- McNeill Raffle is down to one week away! Get your tickets to Mark Brooks or Mark Cory. Contact Mark Brooks with any questions.

-- World Polio Day is on 10/24. Consider making a donation in support of eradicating this disease.

-- The progressive dinner on 11/5 should be a great time. If you would like to attend, contact Jackie Dale or Heather Mayernik. So far, we have 36 people attending and a couple on the fence.

-- The Club will have a table distributing water at the North-South football game on 10/21. Volunteers are needed at 5:00pm.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

Rebecca Fannon – Vocational Talk

Vocational Talks by our own members are the best programs! Her enthusiasm for the school system and community certainly came across in her presentation! The following summary was written by Anna Gulyas, our public relations intern, on our Facebook page by the time we were home!

Rebecca began by describing her family, which includes her husband, and their 4 sons. She attended Albion College as an English major, which allowed her to get a variety of internships and work opportunities leading her to her current position as GPPSS Community Relations Specialist, a position she has held for 17 years.

Rebecca stressed just how passionate she is about her job, and how much she loves the schools. Each day of work for her is something different, which she greatly enjoys.

As Community Relations Specialist, she manages social media, is the liaison to the homeless/foster students and families in the district, manages the "School Pointes," and a variety of other things.

Rebecca mentioned just how much her job affects her and her family's lives, because of things like how she "can never go to Kroger without a question." However, she is still incredibly enthusiastic about her position and made sure to emphasize just how much her job means to her.
