LAST WEEK'S MEETING

President Clint's Quote for the day:

The trouble with being punctual is that nobody's there to appreciate it.

Happy and Sad

Laurie Anderson threw in five sad loonies (enough said); and we were all so spellbound with Doris Cagel's new look - that there was nothing else to say.

Program:

Having a vibrant club includes having vibrant meetings, and one of the main ingredients of vibrant meetings is to have engaging speakers and programs.

Urma Mollema led a discussion among our members about how we may achieve that.

This year President Clint has introduced a program of each member being responsible for one program per year, but with this caveat: if any member is uncomfortable participating in that program or cannot find a speaker, then they should not hesitate in saying so.

Members themselves can be the program. We are always interested in learning more about our own members and their interests. Members can prepare a "who's who" (telling us about themselves) or can, for example, tell us something about an interesting project that they are involved in or about some interesting place that they have been to and what they learned about the place and its people. Or, contact someone who you believe will give an interesting talk to our club - maybe someone that you have read about in the newspaper.

Past President Libby reminded us to make a “spot-light” of ourselves to post on the Club video at our meetings.

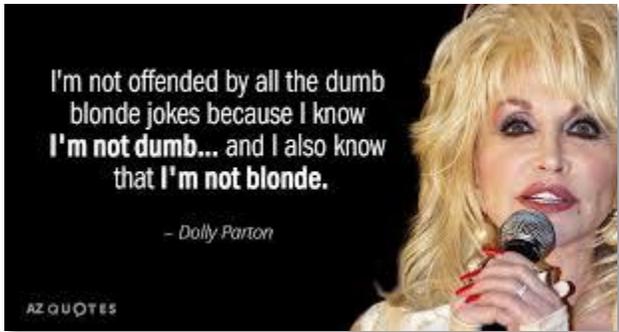

Urma asked that each member have a program ready to present to the Club if called upon by our president “on the spot”, in case a speaker has to cancel without notice. Easiest thing here is to have a “Who’s Who” ready, or tell us about your business (if you have one) or about your career.

On a related topic, another suggestion is that when we bring a guest to the club, be prepared to stand up and properly introduce them, not just giving her name, but telling who they are and what they do.

50-50

Today’s Sergeant at arms, Eric Mollema, put the Queen of hearts on the top of the deck - in plain view, so to speak - but Laurie Anderson apparently preferred to dig for diamonds and was rewarded with the two of them.

President Clint’s closing quip for the day:
