LAST WEEK'S MEETING

No recording of meeting.

SIGNS SIGNS EVERYWHERE THERE'S SIGNS

My therapist ...

Sheriff John likes to amuse the member of the club so that while they are laughing, or busy thinking, he is picking their pockets, This week he went for the names of locations in BC by providing them with a verbal clue. For example, an "overcooked honey pollinator" became "Burnaby" or "Beyond Hope" led to "Spuzzam". It was a profitable venture.

Rotary Foundation – Nothing new from the Foundation this week.

Environmental Service Project –

Lockie has been busy on the Pollinator Highway Project. The current plan is to develop a pollinator garden as part of the DeHart Community Park upgrade. In addition to planting a garden we hope to place a gazebo there so that the public can rest to enjoy their surroundings and shelter from inclement weather.

The project will involve the purchase of materials and considerable labour in its construction. A grant application has been sent to City Parks. At the same time other area Rotary Clubs and groups are to be encouraged to assist in its development.

Christmas Party – the RC Kelowna Capri Christmas Party is scheduled for December 22nd at the Kelowna Curling Club. We will be ordering off the menu and purchasing drinks from their bar.

TRUSTED HOUSE SITTERS

Peter Schultz happened to be visiting with us this meeting and the topic of exchanging houses with foreign travelers came up. He mentioned that he has used an organization called Trusted House Sitters and been very satisfied with the results. If you are interested why not check them out at

THIS WEEK'S REGULAR MEETING

Thursday November 24th, 2022

We meet at the Welton Arms Craft Beer and Restaurant. 890 Clement Ave #304, Kelowna, BC

Our meeting at the Welton Arms last week

The Welton Arms meeting area was pleasant but does suffer from some drawbacks including a lengthy climb up a stair to the room and noise from the pub patrons below.

HUMOUR

Your relatives coming to visit if you win the Powerball...

GUEST SPEAKER

The speaker this week was Jenna Stea who is with a UBCO group studying the development of Pollinator Gardens. She presented a quick overview of their findings.

GALLERY

This week I got interested in black-and- white photography. B&W images are easy to obtain simply by removing the colour in our digital images during post-processing, but it is the composition of the picture that still challenges the photographer.
