

Bryan Walton introduced Dr. Docherty. David Docherty, PhD, is currently in his second term as President of Mount Royal University, first joining the University in 2011 as Mount Royal's ninth president.

An accomplished academic, author and administrator, Dr. Docherty came to Mount Royal from Wilfrid Laurier University in Waterloo, ON, where he served as senior advisor on multi-campus initiatives in the Office of the Vice-President: Academic and Provost. Before that, he was Dean of Laurier's Faculty of Arts.

Dr. Docherty obtained his Honours Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from Wilfrid Laurier University in Waterloo, ON in 1984. He obtained his Master of Arts degree in political science from McMaster University in 1990 and his PhD in political science from the University of Toronto in 1995

BULLETIN REQUEST

If you are presenting at the Podium President Bill has requested that you send a digital copy of your information to: kathynn@rotarycs.org or the Bulletin Editor. Please send in advance of the meeting or right after the meeting

The author of two books and numerous articles on Canadian politics, Dr. Docherty has been a frequent commentator on regional and national radio, and his analyses of provincial and national politics are regularly cited in leading Canadian newspapers.

Docherty is committed to providing an exceptional undergraduate educational experience for Mount Royal University students. His favourite part of the academic year is convocation. Not only does he love shaking the hands of all the graduates, he plays a special role at convocation by playing his bagpipes together with the pipe band that leads Mount Royal grads in and out of each ceremony. Bryan noted that we should invite Dr. Docherty to our Robbie Burns celebration!

In commemoration of Canada's sesquicentennial, Dr. Docherty was honoured to be asked to speak at the Senate Chamber in May, as part of the Symposium which celebrated the 150th anniversary of Canadian Confederation

Dr. Docherty began by saying Good afternoon and thank you for inviting me to speak at your lunch. Today, I'd like to speak about four things.

First, what makes Mount Royal University unique as a post-secondary institution. Second, our contribution to and impact on Calgary. Third, how universities are like incubators for social issues. And last, an invitation to come to our campus and support our students.

At Mount Royal, our vision is to provide an exceptional undergraduate educational experience. While our focus may have changed over time, we bring to learners a strong tradition of higher education achieved over more than 100 years.

Our undergraduate offering has steadily risen to 12 degrees and 32 majors. Our vision is to increase this number to 15 degrees and 60 majors by 2025. When you speak with Mount Royal students and alumni what you will frequently hear is they get individualized attention from our faculty. This is because with smaller class sizes, the priority for our faculty is teaching and learning.

We are also strong advocates for a liberal education. A full quarter of a student's course load includes courses completely out of their area of study. The point of this is to develop intellectual qualities, teamwork skills and well-rounded citizens. We remind the students that their first job may not exist when they start their studies and critical thinking is important.

Another unique aspect of Mount Royal is the opportunity for students to engage in research. They do not have to wait for graduate studies to understand the research process and learn from experienced faculty members. Hand-in-hand with research is practical experience, in co-ops, field schools, work practicums and community service. It's a win-win. High impact experiences for students and graduates who are work-ready for employers.

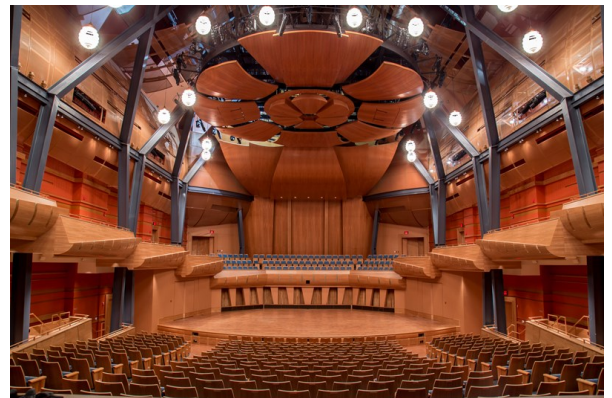

Last but not least, time and time again we are told that our campus community is welcoming. Like a small town, people know and care about each other. In a survey of middle-year students, 89% said they feel a sense of belonging.

So what does the new Mount Royal University look like? Well, this year we will likely reach having 10,000 full course load students. More than three-quarters of those students are pursuing degrees. Eighty per cent of first-year students said Mount Royal was their first choice. And when it comes to student feedback from universities across Canada, we are among the very top for student satisfaction. Ninety-four per cent of middle-year students were satisfied with the quality of teaching they received. Along with providing an exceptional undergraduate experience to students, Mount Royal University positively impacts the community.

Our annual expenditures see more than $230 million go into the local economy. We also employ well over 2,000 Calgarians. Seventy-three per cent of our students are from Calgary, so we provide an education for nearly 7,000 full course load students. One-quarter of our students participate in community service learning, contributing over 300,000 of volunteer hours in Calgary. And each year, we see over 1,600 graduates. Based on an employment rate of 92 per cent after two years, this means Mount Royal adds nearly 1,500 educated and work-ready employees to the labour force every year – the vast majority right here in Calgary.

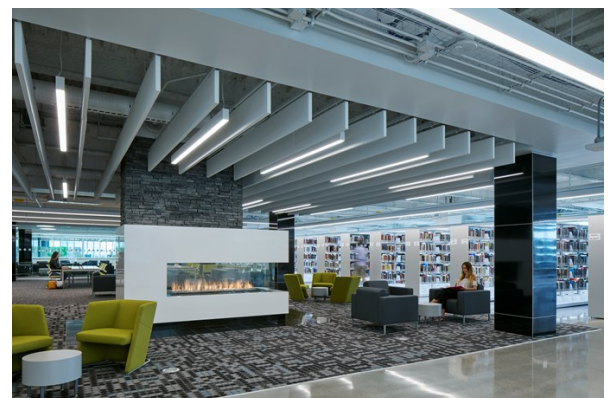

Mount Royal has also recently invested nearly $200 million into two major capital projects. In 2015, the Taylor Centre for the Performing Arts opened its doors. It is a $90 million building project that is the home to our Conservatory music program and the Bella Concert Hall. This project was funded by the federal, provincial and municipal governments, with the amazing Don and Ruth Taylor providing a very generous donation.

If you haven't seen the Bella Concert Hall, please come see it. I can tell you it's the finest concert hall in Alberta, if not western Canada. It seats about 800 and has unbelievable acoustics. Hopefully you have put your business card into a draw to get two tickets to the Royal Wood concert on May 17.

The second project is the Riddell Library and Learning Centre. Last fall, we opened this $100.4 million building thanks to funding from the provincial government and the generosity of the Riddell Family Foundation.

The 16,000-square-metre new space is a box of light. Literally because there is so much natural light coming in the windows and metaphorically because it represents enlightenment through creating and sharing knowledge. This is the intellectual hub and heart of the campus, showcasing how people, technology and information converge and interact in the 21st century. Again if you haven't visited this building, I invite you to do so. A community membership is free of charge.

While Mount Royal University provides a positive impact to the community, I also want to acknowledge how generous Calgary has been to us. Here is a great example.

In mid-January, the U of C and Mount Royal hockey teams (both men and women) square off at the Saddledome for what's called the Crowchild Classic. In five years, the Crowchild Classic's attendance has increased from 4,000 to a record of 13,000 people. This makes it the largest indoor university sport event in Canada. Unbelievable. The community spirit among students is amazing.

We could not do this without the Calgary Flames and Ken King. When I talk to other university presidents in Canadian cities with NHL teams, they say, "Let me get this right. The Flames give you the Saddledome for free, encourage large attendance and provide all the services as a community event?" I say, "Yes, they do." and they say, "Well, that can't happen here." I want to publicly thank the Flames, Ken King and the ownership group who make this possible with their generosity and like our students understand the true value of community.

Along with providing an undergraduate education and supporting the community, universities interact with thousands of young adults who want positive social change. We have first-hand experience into the kinds of changes they are wanting. For example, students are leading the way on conversations about gender and sexual orientation. People identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, two-spirited, intersex, questioning, queer, straight or ally. Many of us don't know what these categories are, let alone how to not discriminate and be respectful. Students spearhead training where participants can ask these questions freely and learn how to be respectful.

Another social issue is religious tolerance. Visit Main Street on our campus on any given day and you'll see students in the Muslim Student Affiliation, Christian Power for Change, Jewish Hillel, Secular Humanist, Catholic Christian, Treaty People and Sikh clubs all lined up beside each other with their booths run by the student organizations. It's a great example of respect for diversity and inclusion.

Violence, in particular sexual violence, is another concerning topic. Students, faculty and staff have worked together to develop a dating violence prevention project, a program to support victims and a stand-alone sexual violence policy.

As well, brave students, who either suffer themselves or know others who do, are reducing the stigma around mental health. I led my first President's Task Force in Student Mental Health, and that group is now implementing 41 recommendations across campus to raise awareness, provide support and encourage healthy living.

Another positive social trend is an increasing number of Indigenous students seeking a post-secondary education and a thirst among non-Indigenous students to better understand Indigenous history, practices, culture and knowledge. Mount Royal's Indigenous Strategic Plan commits us to the Calls to Action in the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. In only a few short years, the percentage of self-declared Indigenous students at Mount Royal has risen from 3% to over 5%. We are well on our way to our goal of 7% by 2025, which is the percentage of Indigenous people in Alberta's population. As well we are helping our campus community learn about the history of the treaties, the Indian Act and residential schools. With this understanding, we can better understand what Indigenous students and community partners have endured, work towards reconciliation and move more positively forward together. It's a work in progress but we are learning.

For students, faculty and staff at Mount Royal, it's a vibrant and positive place to be. But it is also a great place for community members. Here are ten reasons to come visit our campus. The new Bella Concert Hall is truly exquisite, so please take in a show or concert. This year we hosted Yo Yo Ma and Randy Bachman to a full house.

I invite you to check out our Continuing Education classes. We have practical, engaging and flexible courses and programs to meet your needs. And don't think you have to be a virtuoso to take music lessons at the Conservatory. We have thousands of courses — for infants all the way to rock-n-roll guitar lessons for seniors. Maybe you don't want those relatives staying at your place this summer. Our Residence has reasonably priced hotel rooms and apartment-style conference accommodations.

Mount Royal also has beautiful, modern conference, meeting and event spaces to meet your needs. The new Library has an amazing amount of knowledge and technology to share. While you are on campus, there is a wide range of retail and food services, including one of our business graduates' coffee shops.

The caliber of competition among our athletes is amazing, so come out and cheer on the Cougars teams. If you live or work in the area, use our campus recreation centre. It's truly one of the best in town and very reasonably priced. And if you are a bit stiff after your work out, our injury rehabilitation and wellness centre is staffed with some excellent practitioners.

Last but not least we have an amazing exhibit of both sea and land fossils from the Cretaceous period. Based on the very high percentage of Mount Royal University alumni in Calgary, I am guessing there are many of you in the room. I hope we have your contact information because we want to keep in touch. We send our alumni the award-winning Summit magazine. I have some copies here today if you would like to pick one up. There are also alumni-only discounts and offers, for things like concerts at the Bella Concert Hall. Perhaps we can entice you to mentor one of our eager students or as a seasoned-professional give us advice on our undergraduate programs.

We are always looking for financial support so we can provide the best academic, personal and professional experiences for students. We have three focus areas right now. There are 29 Military Memorial Scholarships, which honour past students who lost their lives during military service and benefit current students.

And of course there are always scholarships and bursaries for students. Every year, we distribute about $3.8 million per year in scholarships and bursaries to students. We are greatly appreciative of donations to increase support to those students who excel, who give back to the community and who are in need.

In closing, I hope you take me up on my invitation to visit the Mount Royal University campus. And when you are there, true to our welcoming culture, give me a call and I'll buy coffee. Thanks and have a great afternoon.

Doug Lacombe thanked Dr. Docherty for sharing all of the good things that Mount Royal University is doing. Many of us have hired graduates of Mount Royal University. The University is feeding the engine of the City and is a champion of rational thinking during these challenging times. President Bill added his thanks and advised that the club would be donating $100 in Dr. Docherty's name to our Stay in School program.

President Bill opened the meeting remembering the Humboldt Broncos tragedy last Friday and noted it was not a good day for the hockey world or for Canada. He recalled his own experience as a hockey parent to his son and the special bond with the billet parents. He personally was struggling with the tragedy, along with many others and could not imagine what the community of Humboldt was experiencing. The assembly observed a moment of silence and prayer. President Bill then invited us to join Lisa Fernandes and the head table in the singing of O' Canada followed by Rotary Grace.

Quick Joke of The Day

Two elderly couples were enjoying friendly conversation when one of the men asked the other, "Fred, how was the memory clinic you went to last month?" "Outstanding," Fred replied. "They taught us all the latest psychological techniques - visualization, association-it made a huge difference for me." "That's great! What was the name of the clinic?" Fred went blank he thought and thought but couldn't remember. Then a smile broke across his face and he asked, "what do you call that flower with the long stem and thorns?" "You mean a rose?" "Yes, that's it!" he turned to his wife... "Rose, what was the name of that clinic?"

Head Table: Dr. David Docherty: President of Mount Royal University, Andrea Hennel: Chief of Staff at Mount Royal University, Mark Ambrose, Bryan Walton and Doug Lacombe

Bulletin Editor: Carol Graham Photographer : Clive Pringle

Guests: Sandy Dougall introduced the visitors and guests

50/50 Draw: Ben Steblecki asked Dr. David Docherty, our Guest Speaker to pick the winning ticket and it was President Bill's ticket. President Bill advised that the $165 would be donated to the GoFundMe fund for the Humboldt Broncos families. Our guest speaker generously donated two tickets to a concert at their Bella Hall on May 17. Jim Hutchens was the lucky winner.

Dream Home Minute : Craig Stokke mentioned the tips provided last week on how to extend your rostering team for the Dream Home. He asked the Club to consider the personalities of their volunteers to ensure they are matched to the various jobs that are available: printing, hosting, accounting and selling. We want the right people in the right place at the right time so it is a good experience for all.

New Members' Celebration: Joe Connelly reminded us about the New Members' Celebration next Thursday evening and there would not be the usual meeting at noon next week. Remember to bring a bottle of wine for the wine draw at the New Members' Celebration. He also wanted to thank Mount Royal University for their support for the annual Dragon Boat races.

District Conference: President Bill reminded us of the upcoming District Conference and asked everyone to register soon.

Inn from the Cold : President Bill introduced a 45 second video clip from Inn from the Cold thanking our club for the $60,000.00 contribution to their program. We received a thank you note this week as well from Inn From The Cold.

Strategic Planning Update: President-Elect Ron Prokosch: I am here today to give you a bit of an update on the strategic planning activities and to introduce you to the committee structure for next year. You recall that in late January we introduced you to the 6 Strategic Goals that the Strategic Planning Committee determined as key for our progress over the next three years: Membership, Club operations, Public Image and Communications, Local and International Community Service, Youth Services and Foundations and Giving.

At that time we advised you that the next step would be to meet with committees and groups of committees to establish key objectives and action steps to keep us vital and relevant and effective into the future. Since then, we have met with a number of committee groups (such as all the membership committees – all the Stay-in-School committees, all the Youth Services Committees including the presidents of Rotaract and Interact) and with a number of individual committees and individuals.

We still need to pull all of the information together into a single document as a reference tool to guide our work over the next couple of years. That should happen over the next few weeks. In the meantime I can tell you that the process was invaluable in updating our committee structure for the coming year.

At this point our Strategic Direction is in place, our organization and committee structure are coming into place and with the work of Treasurer Larry and President Bill the adjustments to budgeting and financial report are also almost in place. This means that all our key business processes are aligned.

One of the items that came out of the strategic planning committee was advice to reduce the number of committees. We have been able to do that (reducing from 67 to 50 including 4 projects and 3 new committees). In doing this we have been able to provide support, backup and succession for a number of 1 person committees. On your table you will see the one page document that outlines the Committee Structure for 2018-2019. (you will need your glasses).

Let me introduce you to the Directors and the Portfolio they will lead:

David Young – Club Service – Ways and Means, Len Kushner – Club Service - Operations, Dorothea Schaab – Community Service - Youth Services, Dana Hunter – Community Service – Ways and Means, Glen Godlonton – Club Service - Membership and Social, Kevin McLeod – Community Service - International and Vocational And Jim Hutchens – Community Service - Local

All members will be receiving an email identifying these Committees and their Chairs and another document asking which Committees you would like to be on and which Committees you would prefer not to be on. Please contact Ron by phone or email if you have any questions. Ron thanked all who helped with this important work

Invermere Golf Weekend: Mark Ambrose announced the golf weekend coming up the June 1st, 2nd and 3rd weekend. The Social Committee was able to secure lower prices than ever before. Thanks to Mel Gibson for his help in securing this. The agenda is: a social dinner on Friday night, golf on Saturday, 3 course dinner on Saturday night and a host brunch at Sherry and Steve Austin's home on Sunday. The application form will be in next week's Bulletin and available at the next regular Rotary meeting on April 26.

Sergeant-At-Arms: Lynn Grant announced that he wasn't going to fine President Bill due to his 50/50 winnings because he was donating it to the Humboldt Broncos fund but he was going to fine him $2 for his joke of the day!

Lynn then proceeded to lighten our wallets if we weren't wearing hockey shirts to honour the Humboldt Broncos and further if we dared to seek warmer climates during the winter months.

Good job Lynn!

President Bill then adjourned the meeting and asked everyone to keep all the families impacted by the Humboldt Broncos tragedy in their prayers.

The Rotary Club of Calgary South donned hockey jerseys at its meeting today to express our sincerest condolences to the immediate families, extended families, friends and colleagues of the Humboldt Broncos.

A moment of silence allowed each Rotarian to reflect on the sorrow of this heavy loss, but also instill hopes of camaraderie and a coming together. Not only of a hockey town, but an entire nation who stands with each and every person affected by this horrific tragedy.

We also thank the many first responders, and the hundreds of people involved in medical teams, grief support, and all those who will be part of the healing process for some time to come.

Our hearts and thoughts go out to all of you.

To Humboldt Strong - The Rotary Club of Calgary South is with you.

You are Invited!
