BULLETIN CHAIR: Bev Ostermann

EDITOR: Bev Ostermann PHOTOGRAPHER: Norm Legare

Jim Fitzowich introduced our guest speaker, Dr Jeff Keshen, Dean, Faculty of Arts, Mount Royal University. Dr. Keshen is a prize winning author of five books, 11 edited books and more than 25 scholarly articles. He is a historian of 20th century Canada, specializing in War and Society. His teaching has garnered the University of Ottawa's Excellence in Education Prize and the Government of Ontario's Leadership in Education Award. Before starting as Dean for the Faculty of Arts at Mount Royal University in July 2012, he served as Chair of the Department of History at the University of Ottawa. He is also adjunct professor in the Centre of Military and Strategic Studies at the University of Calgary.

The following is extracted from Dr. Keshen's notes for his talk, which was somewhat constrained by time limitations:

"It is truly a pleasure to be here today, speaking to an organization that does so much to improve communities, especially among those with acute need. Before arriving in Calgary, I worked for many years at the University of Ottawa, where I had the opportunity and honour to interact with Rotary through Adventures in Citizenship forums and engaging Rotary as a partner in the U of O's Community Service Learning program, where students undertook volunteer work as part of their courses.

It is my belief – one that I imagine Rotary shares – that universities have a special obligation and privilege to contribute – indeed to lead – not only intellectually but also socially to help students to really appreciate that a great country and great communities are built not only upon the willingness of people to work hard to improve their own lot, but also by giving back.

I'm a historian, one who is deeply impressed by the long record of Rotary's tremendous service, drawing motivation from the motto "Service Above Self". At MRU, you've had an important direct impact, namely by creating the Gardie and Jeanne Shaw Scholarship that each year, is awarded to a 2ND year student who excels academically and demonstrates commitment to volunteerism and community building.

HEALTH AND WELLNESS: Contact Dick Shaw at atlanticclipper@gmail.com if you know of anyone that is not well or is there anyone you know that could use a visit.

TRANSPORTATION: Contact Bonar Irving at bonar@shaw.ca or: 403 254 8476 if you know of anyone that may need a ride to meetings

At MRU, and particularly in the Faculty of Arts, we endeavour to prepare students by instilling fundamental, critically important skills that we believe underlie success in all aspects of life. These being the ability to critically analyze, to communicate effectively, to appreciate the complexity of issues, and the importance of empathy and understanding. We educate students not only in the classroom, but also by getting them into the community, to link theory to experience in locations that span areas surrounding our campus to settings that span the globe, and work among many of the most destitute.

Yet, Arts still battles against that long established image of being impractical, or even being frivolous - that its degrees are not the ones students should pursue if they want a promising career. Interestingly, however, there is currently an explosion of double majors at universities, where many undergraduates are combining STEM-based studies with Humanities, bringing them expertise in in a specific professional domain as well as broad knowledge and the mastery of those fundamental skills relating to analysis and communications. A recent study found that 93% of employers agreed that a “demonstrated capacity to think critically, communicate clearly, and solve complex problems is more important than a job candidate’s undergraduate degree.” Whereas Arts students initially struggle in starting careers and are paid less than those in the STEM domains, after about 5 years on the job, they generally catch up in earnings and do arguably better with respect to promotion. In 2011/2012 the unemployment rate of 8.4% for recently graduated Liberal Arts majors in the USA compared well to those in computer science and math at 8.3%.

At MRU, the Faculty of Arts graduate slightly less students than Business and Health and Community Studies, but collectively our courses house far more registrants (being the go-to place for electives). The Faculty represents about 75% of the obligatory General Education courses all students must take to ensure breadth and depth in their degree. MRU Arts presently has 9 Majors - English, History, Justice Studies, Sociology, Anthropology, Policy Studies, Spanish, Interior Design and Psychology. It has about 120 full-time professors, roughly the same number of contract professors, and about 2,000 students taking its degree majors.

Among the things distinguishing MRU Arts is the outstanding commitment of Faculty, and the enthusiasm of students, to apply disciplinary theories and classroom lessons to connect with and try to improve the broader community. A good portion of our outreach is “practical” and applied. Mount Royal has very strong co-op, work terms and internship programs, under which students earn academic credits, make money, and network as part of their degree.

Also, through our programs Arts students are in communities where they learn first hand and apply the motto of “Service Above Self.” Soon after starting at MRU in 2012, one of the first things I was asked to advance was Community Service Learning. A little more than 3 years later, this new program - managed by Business professor Victoria Calvert - has approximately 25% of our students engaged in Community Service Learning. Through their courses they provide a minimum of 15 hours of volunteerism, which collectively yields some 50,000 volunteer hours annually in Calgary.

Some examples of the programs are:

Interior Design students are remodelling several rooms at Shoshone Centre to create a more home like setting for women and children escaping abusive home situations.

The English Department has partnered with United Active Living to create a program in which students are paired with residents at the Garrison Green Senior Centre, to write about a defining moment in the senior’s life. The stories are edited and published versions are presented to the residents and their families.

English and Interior Design professors have collaborated to start the “Who’s Frank” anti-bullying initiative that works with high schools and middle schools to raise awareness about the scourge of bullying. Anonymous stories are solicited from victims and shared with the audience. A giant pink elephant called Frank is used to put forward the idea that bullying is an elephant in the room and is a topic about which we need “Frank” discussion.

Arts students, as part of Sociology, Anthropology and English courses, have linked their studies with development work in places such as Sri Lanka and Ghana.

A Centre for Community Disaster Research has been founded, producing reports on means to support family and community resilience in the face of major disasters. Its work has been applied in places such as High River and even in Louisiana, which is still recovering from Hurricane Katrina.

CONTINUED ...

As a result of negotiations with U of C, MRU will pursue establishing an undergraduate interdisciplinary Peace Studies program. This new initiative will include workshops, guest speakers, a degree minor and presenting of the annual Calgary Peace Prize. This was established in 2006 to "recognize outstanding individuals from the global community who work toward making the world a more just, safer and less violent place." Past recipients have included Hiroshima Mayor Tad-at-o-shi Akiba, Dr. Samantha Nutt, Senator (Retired Lieutenant General) Romeo Dallaire, and last year, the Commissioners of Canada's Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

Established in 1910 as a College, and since 2009 as a university, MRU is a uniquely dynamic institution, wholly committed to creating a welcoming place and bringing a spirit of service to the broader public, something I earnestly hope will inspire even more collaborations/partnerships between us and you all here to create even better communities.

Terry Allen thanked Dr. Keshen for his thoughts on the place of Liberal Arts in today's society and for bringing us the MRU perspective on public service and community involvement which matches very closely to the ideals of Rotary. Our Club is involved in the MRU Peace Studies initiative and the annual awarding of the Calgary Peace Prize.

He noted that the scholarship mentioned in Dr. Keshen's talk was established to honour the District Governors who have come from our Club, Gardie Shaw, Bob Dawson and Ken Copithorne. President Ken presented Dr. Keshen with a copy of our own historian Peter Penner's latest book, "A Time to Be Born".

Charitable Giving Tax Credits: Penny Leckie provided some guidance on the tax credits available for charitable giving.

- Donate $5,000 over 5 years
- $1,000 per year pre-tax
- $83.33 per month pre-tax
- $2.74 per day pre-tax
- How Much is Your Daily Latte?
- Tax credit may be 54% but even at 50% after-tax cost of $5,000 in 5 years is $1.37 per day

Bottom line is that a tax credit of around 50% is given for any donation, at any income level.

Our share has grown 2.6 times since 2007, compared to overall growth of 1.7 times for the total fund in that time. Total Club donations to date are about $2.6 million, so we have enjoyed substantial appreciation even after the annual 5% disbursement.

Tyler and Susan Cran: President Ken recognized Tyler and Susan as they have left the Club and are retiring to sunny Osoyoos. Tyler joined Rotary in 1993 and has been an active Member, participating in a variety of Club Committees and projects, until health issues curtailed his involvement.

Although a very private family who do not publicize their many philanthropic activities, the Cran's have been generous donors to Rotary Challenger Park, CRCF and many other Club endeavours. They are multiple Paul Harris Fellows and have been significant supporters of our SISP Golf Tournament, and the First Nations SISP. Susan is still active in her support of Dream Home, Country Thunder and Rotary Partners. The Rotary motto of "Service Above Self" has inspired them to give back to our community.

They are thanked for their contribution to our Club and to the greater Rotary world.

President Ken presented Tyler and Susan with a copy of Peter Penner's book "A Time to Be Born", and Rotary coins which can serve as a reminder of their time with us in Rotary. We wish you many quality years of retirement in Osoyoos ... much happiness together and good health to both of you.

New Member Induction: Michael Ruttan introduced our newest Member, Bryan Burt. Bryan moved to Calgary from Cape Breton at the age of 18 in search of work. He worked as a Power System Operator with TransAlta for 26 years before going into business on his own. His shift work with TransAlta allowed him to spend a lot of time with his 2 children, a daughter and son, now 29 and 26 respectively. In addition to their own children, he and his wife Karen hosted 44 foster children in their loving home over the years.

About 10 years ago, Bryan purchased Dyna-Crete, a foundation repair and maintenance business that he continues to develop with his son, Colin. Bryan and his family have been active members of our community for many years. He has served as a director of Foster Parents of Calgary, with his local community association, and with many of the sports organizations his in which children were involved. His wife Karen has worked in the not for profit sector for many years. He is half way to a black belt in martial arts and is an avid scuba diver, with a particular interest in sharks. Please get to know Bryan and welcome him to Rotary.

Past President Keith Davis performed the induction.

"Bryan, it is my pleasure on behalf of the board of directors and the members of the Rotary Club of Calgary South to welcome you as a member.

If you look out over this room you will see a group of men and women who, were it not for Rotary, may never have met. They are a diverse group, with a wide variety of experience, political and religious beliefs, personal backgrounds and life objectives.

But there is a common theme: within this room there are people of local, regional, national and international celebrity. There are scientists, entrepreneurs, educators, ranchers, retailers, administrators, and other professionals in a wide variety of disciplines. Some are at the start of their careers and others – after a lifetime in their professions – are now enjoying retirement. The common theme I referred to is their desire to support their community, not only locally, but around the world. Through Rotary, they are giving back – and most have done so throughout their careers. They believe wholeheartedly, as I do, in the Rotary motto of "Service Above Self". And they use as their guiding light the "Four Way Test" which you have heard much about, and which you will continue to hear much about throughout your time as a Rotarian.

Bryan, I always like to tell new members that, while we can make you a member of our Rotary Club, we cannot make you a Rotarian in the true sense of the word. That is a distinction which you must gain for yourself. Over time, you will find your own 'level' within our club and within the broader Rotary community. Not everyone is comfortable in a leadership role, but we all contribute in our own way and each of us brings value to efforts of our club. We welcome you not only for the fine fellowship which we will share, but also for the assistance you will provide to help us carry out the club's projects for the purpose of making our community, our country, and the world a better place to live. You have been chosen for membership in the Rotary Club of Calgary South because we believe you to be a leader in your respective vocation and because you display those characteristics which will enable you to enjoy Rotary and to impart its message of service. You are the representative of your vocation in this club, and information pertaining to your vocation must naturally come to us through you. At the same time, you will be an ambassador from this Rotary club to your vocation. We will rely upon you to convey the principles and ideals of service, which we here advocate, to the people in your vocation whom you have the honor to represent.

The community will know and judge Rotary by your embodiment of it in character and service, and we accept you as a member with confidence that our principles and organization will be safe and secure in your hands.

We also expect assistance and inspiration from you in helping us to become better Rotarians, and it is with this hope that I now ask your sponsor, Michael Ruttan, to invest you with the distinguishing lapel pin of Rotary membership and to offer you the right hand of Rotary fellowship. Your membership card shows that you are a member of the Rotary Club of Calgary South in good standing, and it is the only identification needed for you to visit and be welcomed by any of the more than 34,000 Rotary clubs throughout the world in more than 200 countries, with membership in excess of 1.3 million Rotarians

Fellow members, I have much pleasure in presenting to you our new member, Bryan Burt."

President Ken Farn then closed the meeting

Social Committee Stages Successful "Pop-Up" Event

The RCCS Social Committee staged another successful "Pop-Up" event, drawing 16 Rotarians & friends to Kildare's Ale House on October 17th to cheer on the Toronto Blue Jays in their 3rd game. Unfortunately, the support of Rotarians wasn't enough to push the Jays to a win. A substantial amount of good food and refreshing fluids helped keep spirits high at the event, and a great time was had by all. Social Committee Chair Toby Oswald-Felker explains that "Pop-Up" events will occur periodically throughout the year, with a week or 2 of advance notice. They are low cost (this one was free, with those present paying only for food and drink they ordered) and designed to do nothing more than foster fellowship and have a good time. We work hard as Rotarians and it is important to occasionally get together for no other reason than to relax and have a good time

THANK YOU ROTARY'S BEST CLUB...

Hey Rotarians, I have news since the last time I wrote you. I finally played a football game (not a practise) it wasn't a long time but I really became aggressive and I got so excited about that.

Actually the coach is making me playing a lot of plays in practises and I am learning them so maybe I enjoy more time on the field. I have games next Tuesday 25th and Thursday 27th (both October) but they are really important for the team so I don't promise I am playing (I am the 17!!).

Last Tuesday I met Mary Mcphee and we had dinner at her house, she is a really nice person, so friendly, perfect host and really a really good chef. I look up to her and her likes about knowing new countries and cultures.

My thanksgiving was really nice, really cold and really "foodless" I went to the far north of Edmonton with Ron and we stayed at his friend's house, they were so friendly and they made me feel a really appreciated guest, thanks Gordon and Ann. We spent Friday and Saturday with them and the snow which I like to shovel and throw it to my head. Sunday we drove to the north (if it is possible) and we celebrated thanksgiving at my good friend Steve's house who have a lot of stories and jokes to tell everyone. It was the 40th time they were celebrating thanksgiving together as a group and they introduced me and treated me like if I would stay for each of the 40 times. The food there was amazing and they let me cut the turkey but ate it was better.

Our wind up hike was to Troll Falls. We knew we were on the right trail when we saw this small troll in the ditch

At the falls you can see this big troll in the rock

The falls were high as you can see by the person walking beside them

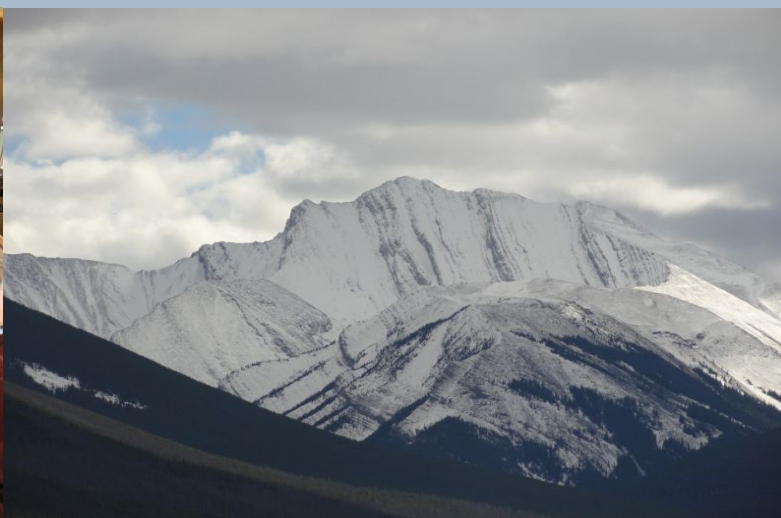

A tourist from Ontario took this picture of the eight of us but occluded the falls by lining up the trees in front of the falls

We lunched in Kananaskis village and all felt like a snooze afterwards

After lunch we walked the path overlooking the still flood-damaged Kananaskis golf course, but if you looked up the snow peaked mountains were still the same

- * Terry McColl had a little fall and is recovering with great spirit.
- * Claudia Brews had back surgery and will be in a body cast for 3-6 months. She is recovering at her daughter's house.

Best wishes for a speedy and healthy recovery for both. Our thoughts are with you

HIKERS: Yesterday was our last scheduled hike for the season. Many thanks to our leaders, who organized us, found new vistas, and kept us safe.

Kudos also to our photographer, Pat Farn, and schedule maker, Barb Heuchert.

Watch for us next Spring when we will welcome new hikers who love the mountains, fresh air and exercise
