

AUGUST 22, 2018

The Children's Treatment Centre of Chatham-Kent is embarking on a huge project - they are hoping to build a new treatment centre.

One of our speakers this week was Rotarian Donna Litwin-Makey who is the executive director of the CK Treatment Centre.

She was joined by Mike Genge, executive director of the Foundation and Dan Lundy, a board member and a parent. His daughter uses some of the services of the Centre.

Our speakers were introduced by Rotarian Sparky Leonard.

The Rotary Club has a long history of working with the Treatment Centre - going back to the days of the Easter Seals campaigns. Mike showed a slide showing Andy Watson, the chair of one of the the Easter Seals campaigns with "Timmy" of that year, Allan Campbell. The Rotary Club previously has raised $250,000 for the centre.

The Children's Treatment Centre serves 1 in 9 of CK children and has 1,100 kids on the wait-list. There are 3,091 clients in 10 different communities. The staff in 1984 numbered 19, the staff today numbers 52. The caseload is expected to continue growing.

This necessitates a new facility. The Butterfly Building Campaign is raising funds for a new 50,000 sq. ft. building on McNaughton Ave. W.

The overall building costs are projected to be $28.5 million with the ministry supplying $22.5 million. The community needs to raise the remaining $6 million. Approximately $3.8 of this is already raised and $2.3 million is still needed.

Mike is hoping that the Rotary Clubs in CK could help by raising $250,000 for some of the outdoor areas of the new building.

This is an ambitious program that the fund-raising committee has undertaken and we wish them well. We were pleased to be given a sneak preview of the new facility. Past president Tom McCarthy thanked our guest speakers.

Editor's Note: Last week, our club had a BBQ at the home of Jennifer and Tony Hill. Jennifer submitted this report.

TOGETHER WE CONNECT!

Fulfilling the mandate from RI Headquarters for membership month, Jennifer and Tony hosted a BBQ meeting cum social event which allowed members and family to get together informally and enjoy a lovely summer evening with good food, good wine and good conversation.

Special thanks to Stan and Tony for being chefs, to Andy for loaning us a BBQ and tables and to Paul W. and Alysson for coming early to set up.

To all who brought excellent salads and desserts, thank you. You made the evening. Thanks also for all the help cleaning up.

Also, as promised, the eagle made a brief appearance but the herons timed their flight incorrectly and came too early.
