

JANUARY 23, 2019

This week, our guest speaker was Megan Cowan from the CK Public Library. Megan was talking about the CK Reads program.

Megan was introduced by Rotarian Tania Sharpe, chief librarian for Chatham-Kent. Tania was also acting president today.

CK Reads is a community-wide book club where everyone in Chatham-Kent is invited to read the same book. Through discussions and programs, CK Reads hopes to bring the community closer together through a shared love of reading.

CK Reads will be entering it's third year in 2019.

In 2018, over 400 people read "They Left Us Everything" by Plum Johnson.

This year we are hoping that 425 people will read "City of the Lost" by Kelley Armstrong. This is a chilling mystery that asks "Where would you go if you suddenly had to disappear?"

Kelly Armstrong is a local author from South-western Ontario. City of the Lost is book one in a series. The 4th book in the series will be released next month.

Our thanks were expressed to Megan by Tania for updating us on this and other services offered by the local library.
