

MARCH 13, 2019

This week, our guest speaker was Honorary Lieutenant Colonel Joseph Ouellette of the Essex and Kent Scottish Regiment. Joseph was introduced by David Barr.

Joseph Ouellette is a lifelong resident of Essex County. He is president of Acrolab Inc., a heat transfer engineering company. He graduated from the Western Ontario Institute of Technology. He taught marketing at the University of Windsor, and became the honorary L. Colonel of the regiment for a 3-year term in 2017.

He is married to Paula, has 3 adult children and currently lives in Windsor.

The Regiment is a primary reserve unit of the Canadian army and has garrisons in Windsor and Chatham. The Regiment has served Canada since 1885. Members fought in the war of 1812-1814, both world wars and has helped with UN and NATO missions.

In 1954, the Essex Scottish and the Kent Regiment were amalgamated.
