

Garage Item Pricing Guide

Clothing - Brand names and condition help the asking price here.

- Baby Clothes– Price depends entirely upon condition and brand. If it's from baby gap or Gymboree and has a tag on it still, 5.00 and up should be reasonable. If there's no tag or it's been worn then $3.00 or less is appealing. If there are stains or damaged clothing it can be thrown in a donation/free box which will entice other purchases.
- Plain tee shirts -.25-50 cents.
- Brand name polos, lacoste or other trendy brands - $5.00
- Plain blue jeans - $1.00
- Brand name jeans - $3.00
- Fleeeces, jackets, coats, and other winter gear - $4.00
- Dresses & skirts - $5.00
- Items with tags still attached - $10.00 or 70% of original retail price whichever is more reasonable
- Pocketbook and purses – Depending on brand name $10 - $70
- Ties - $1.00 or bulk deals such as 10 for $6.00
- Dress shoes - $5.00
- Tennis shoes - $3.00
- Flip flops and sandals – If never worn $3.00

Books, Novels, and Textbooks – The going rate for a single paperback novel and outdated textbook is typically $1.00. A hardcover book in good shape can go for $2.00 and, and depending one how many books you have, it is often a good idea to make bulk sales at a price break to help move them.

Cassette Tapes– Many people still drive cars that have cassette players and many elderly individuals listen to opera, musicals, and classical music on cassettes. Also jam bands such as the Grateful Dead and Phish have lots of cassettes floating around that are worth a pretty penny. So there still is a market for these. 10 cents apiece for a non collectible tape. If you have a collectible tape or motivational tape then $1.00-5.00 is an ample starting price point.

Compact Disks– CD's are another dying breed due to electronic and digital media players like the iPod. However, we all have a CD player in our vehicle. $1.00 a piece with a bulk deal of 10 for $5.00 is fair, just make sure to check for scratches as you wouldn't want to purchase a disc that doesn't play or skips.

DVDs – Depending on the age of the movie $2-3.00 is a fair starting price point. If it's brand new in the wrapper still or is a new release within the past couple of years then $4-6.00.

Electronics- This is the broadest category of items to price:

- VHS players - $15.00 try to sell it as a bulk deal with your VHS tapes
- DVD Players - $20.00 Also push this with the DVDs for sale
- Blue Ray Players - $40.00 although uncommon at sales they are available time to time

- Hockey Sticks - $4.00
- Helmets - $2.00
- Fishing Rods - $8.00 a piece or a set of bait and tackle for $12.00

Toys – This is a tough category to price because the range of items depending on year and condition can vary. The consumer products safety commission has made it illegal to sell recalled products at a yard sale so please make sure that you are following legal guidelines for the safety of the children. Try not to sell broken toys that cannot be easily put back together. Some of the bigger brand names such as Leapfrog, Fisher Price, and Playskool usually command a small premium to off brand products.

- Scooter - $10.00

Tools - As long as they still function you can sell them. Some of the bigger and more industrial items will sell well above the normal garage sale prices.

- Lawnmower (non riding) – $60.00
- Sewing Machine -$20.00
- Saw - $5.00
- Tool Box –Depending on size and condition $20-75.00
- Drills, Wrenches, and Screwdrivers - $2.00 a piece on average.

Videogames – Consoles, games, controllers, and memory cards are very popular items at garage sales and always attracts family friendly visitors. If you are selling a game that was released in the last two years and the purchase price was $50.00 or greater then 70% off or $15.00 is a fair starting point.

- Playstation 1- Console - $5.00 Games - $1.00 a piece Controllers $2.00 Memory Cards - $2.00

Videotapes - VHS tapes tend to be popular at a garage sale and some shoppers like adding to their historic collection. 25-50 cents a piece is the going rate, and bulk deals such as 5 for a dollar will help sales. If you have a rare or collectible tape such as a Disney limited release you may want to consider keeping it or auctioning it off as you probably won't maximize your value at a yard sale.
