Fellowship at Tap & Barrel

The turnout for the fellowship event at the Tap and Barrel was quite good on a rainy Tuesday evening. Wind and rain are not enough to deter hardy Rotarians in search of wine, beer and pleasant conversation.

The Tap and Barrel is an unusual establishment. One wall is lined with cooled units with wine bottles, at least twenty-five varieties from Rieslings to roses to many reds. Most of them from local area wineries. The wines have dispensers attached and you receive a card you can insert in a slot that allows three different levels of pour into the provided glass. This allows you to have tastes of several different wines to find something you like. For beers, there was also a large selection on tap as the name implies.

Tap and Barrel also has a kitchen and serves a variety of appetizers and sandwich fare. The flatbreads were quite tasty. This décor is somewhat industrial in style, with a bar, smaller tables and some comfortable chairs. It would make a good place to meet friends for drinks and casual dining.

President Diahann was on hand, with hubby Ron, to greet arriving Rotarians, along with President-to-be Bob Tibbatts. Other attendees included Jan & Mara Jackson, Judy & Bill Addis, Jackie & Steve Wright, C. Mark Smith, Tim Lewis, Barbara French, Phillip Koech, Pat Haggerty, Roy Keck, Bob & Shirley Larson, Pam Larsen, Larry & Debi Lowry, Steve Arneson, Ken & Sharon Williams, Robert Rivera, Jordyn Creighton and many more attendees filled the large table and the bar.

Diahann gave C. Mark Smith a bad time when he was found at a table with two ladies (Kathy Miller and Pat Haggerty).

Conversations overheard included weather, the holidays, travel, books but very little politics, as everything stayed cheery. A quite satisfactory event in all.
