

The Frederick H. Tuttle Memorial Award

History:

Each year the South Burlington Rotary Club presents this award to recognize individuals who like Fred “go beyond the expected, bringing extraordinary zeal and integrity to everything in which they are involved while enhancing the South Burlington community at large.”

Essentially, the criteria are that the nominee must live or work in South Burlington and have contributed significantly in some way to their vocation. The committee selection process considers such factors as how the nominee's actions have benefited their profession, how long he/she had been involved in their vocation and community as well as whether the individual exemplifies Rotarian ideals.

The history for the naming of the award is that, prior to his death, the South Burlington Rotary Club presented Mr. Frederick Tuttle with a Paul Harris Fellow for his contributions to the community. Mr. Tuttle served as Superintendent of the South Burlington School District from 1971 to 1992. Mr. Tuttle died after a courageous battle with cancer on May 14, 1992. Since then, the Middle School has been renamed the Frederick H. Tuttle Middle School. Fred also served as principal of the South Burlington Middle School for many years. The club's sentiment is that Mr. Tuttle exemplified the ideals of what this award is intended to recognize. As such the award is named "The Frederick H. Tuttle Memorial Award" in his memory.

A plaque commemorating the past recipients of the award is placed in City Hall - it includes the names of all prior recipients and will include all future recipients. Also, a $250 contribution is made by Rotary to the charity of their choice.
