Meeting News

With the snowstorm wiping out our St. Patrick's Day party and our meeting cancelled in anticipation of the party, it seems like such a longtime since we got together, but today was a normal March windy, cool day, and we were back on schedule.

We had two guests: Senator Ann Cummings and Carol Groom who came to hear Ann tell us about what is currently going on in the VT senate.

Ann had an appointment in Montpelier at 9 A.M., thus she was moved to the top of our schedule (while some people were still finishing breakfast)

PROGRAM

Ann said many people are commuting to work and have to face hazards every day and should not have to face tax increases. But gas and soda taxes more likely to change than income taxes. A big problem is how to pay for health care..

The landfill problem will cause a big impact on the local economies.

After what passed yesterday, legislative committees will have to examine rate changes for alternative energy, scheduled tax credits and benefits. They want Vermonters to receive benefit payments not multi-million $ corporations.

They have received complaints over the size of solar panels.

Gas tax alternatives? Place a high reg. fee on gas guzzlers?

There are a lot of small things on the agenda.

Ann told us the senate has 35 bills to vote on by Friday.

Under discussion are: Windmills including controversial amendments, concerns for ridgelines vs. energy production

Utilities - transmission lines problems in winter

another deficit expected this year

pay increases for govt. workers - inc. taxes

As we use less gas, gas revenues decline. Property tax rate cut but tax can still go up if assessments increase. All things being equal, taxes should not go up. But rebate reduced. Using three year rolling average, the market is coming back.

When the market values increase, taxes up more slowly. When market goes down, taxes decrease more slowly.

At this point, Ann ran out of time. For more information GOOGLE Ann
