Ten Rotary clubs from the Quad-Cities joined together on July 19, at the Modern Woodmen ballpark in Davenport for fellowship and to raise funds for the Miracle Field project. More than 350 Rotarians and family members had a great time getting acquainted and watching the Quad Cities River Bandits play the South Bend Cubs. This event is one of several that the Rotary clubs from the Quad Cities are participating in to raise funds for the Quad-Cities' only Miracle Field. $1,692 was raised through ticket sales and donations to help fund the Miracle Field project.

The Miracle Field is specifically designed to be not only physically accessible, but also safe for people with disabilities. The field is fully accessible for those with mobility issues and features a rubberized surface with flat bases and other painted elements. The field allows players of all abilities to experience the joy of America's pastime in a safe and inclusive way.

Highlights of the evening included a time for Rotarians from 'both sides of the river' to socialize prior to the game, ten club presidents and Challenger Little Leaguers throwing out first pitches, and the Iowa Quad Cities club president Emily Shenk-DeMay singing the National Anthem. Miracle Field videos were shown on the big screen prior to a check presentation by Assistant Governors Gary Loss (D6000) and Dave Emerick (D6420). Davenport Rotarian Jacqueline Holm, River Bandits Assistant General Manager, was instrumental in making the evening a success.

Presidents of the four QC clubs
Annette Horvath, Jeff Ashcraft, Emily Shenk-DeMay and Bill Daley.

Jacqueline Holm – Assistant General Manager of the QC River Bandits (and Davenport Rotarian).

Gary Loss – Assistant Governor, Iowa District 6000

Steve Grimes – Miracle Field Fundraising Committee Member

Dave Emerick – Assistant Governor, Illinois District 6420

Presidents of the four QC clubs
Annette Horvath, Bill Daley, Emily Shenk-DeMay and Jeff Ashcraft.
