LAST WEEK

LAST WEEK - March 8, 2019 – Miss Iowa, Mikhayla Hughes-Shaw

Sixty-two attended on Friday, including guests Beverly Smith, guest of Jim Smith, Katie Hutchins, guest of Kelsey Watson (and new employee of Steeplegate), and North Scott students, Joie Stoefen and Grace Sampson.

Jeff Ashcraft read two thank you notes from families that received custom tricycles from the first build. Jeff also gave the details for the second build being held on May 4. Jan Touney will be supervising a “one” trike build with her Interact students at the North Scott Junior High. They will begin on Friday morning, March 22 and continue Friday mornings until complete. Jan also indicated that the students have raised the additional $90 for the Uganda GMOC, so they will be able to purchase a TV to watch educational videos.

Miss Iowa thanked Brian Dixon, director of the Miss Clinton padgent, where she was crowned Miss Clinton County in 2017. She went on to win Miss Iowa in 2018. Mikhayla opened her program with a short violin solo. She told us that her hobbies are violin, pageantry, sleeping and watching Netflix. Her home town is Rock Island, IL and is a student in Journalism at the University of Iowa. She had to take a year off of school to perform her Miss Iowa duties. She will graduate in 2020.

Miss Iowa is the senior assistant editor of Love Girls Magazine and has served an internship at KWQC. She has also been on the “Harry” television show. Her platform is H.O.P.E. Helping Others & Providing Encouragement. One in five youth and adults will experience a mental health issue in their life. She speaks to a lot of school groups about suicide and how just being a friend can help someone out.
