Summary Jenna has shared how the Girls Scouts help girls build courage, confidence, and character. She also let us know that her mother wanted to join the girls' scouts, but she couldn't which indirectly helped Jenna to join, and she is now working for them. Another fact she shared with us was that the proceeds the girls collect from selling cookies helps them do what they dreamed of doing if they had the money. So, for example, some of the girls were hoping to travel to see a single country in Europe, but with the money they saved from selling Girl Scout cookies, they ended up being able to visit three countries instead.
