Coin Box Program Contributing to Rotary Foundation

Posted by Bob Winkel on Feb 26, 2013

The Coin Box program is proving to be a success. Some of our members have already picked up more of the boxes, which are designed to collect your loose change. The average amount collected per box is $100! In just the last couple of weeks $152 was collected.

Members are asked to bring filled boxes to Club meetings and pick up another box for filling. We will count the contents and credit your account with the amount and send it to Rotary International. Your contribution will accumulate and in time you will qualify for a Paul Harris. You can continue to make monthly contributions with your "dues statement" and use this COIN

Kingston 4th of July Fun Run. As you may recall this event consists of a 1-mile kids dash, 5k, and 10k all rolled into one - officially kicking of our community's full day of 4th of July festivities.

Some updates on where we are at at this point:

- We are solidifying our art work for this year's t-shirt - we are excited to say that we may actually be saving a couple hundred dollars more than what we spent last year on t-shirts without sacrificing quality
- We are in the process of revamping our website to allow for easier and better registration online
- We have several returning sponsors for this year's event once again - still looking for several more to make this event better than the year before
- We are ordering mile marker flags for each of the markers in each of the races to give our runners a better idea of where they are in the race
- We are about finished as far as solidifying our electronic chip-timing team
- We have set a goal of achieving 350+ runners this year

If you are interested in running in this year's race or want to volunteer the day of our event, please visit our website: www.kingstonrunning.org.

The Worldwide Need for Wheel Chairs

Posted by Bob Winkel on Feb 19, 2013

Our Rotary Club has supported the Wheel Chair Foundation since our inception. Recently we heard from the Wheel Chair Foundation that an "estimated 100-150 million people worldwide need wheelchairs and less than one percent own or have access to one". They indicated that the number of people who need the wheelchair will increase by 22 percent over the next 10 years. The greatest need exists in developing countries where only a small percentage of folks who need them don't have wheelchairs. This forces dependence on families and friends for mobility. Many without a support system get around by crawling or simply spend most of their time staying in bed or sitting in a room.

The Wheelchair Foundation purchases both a solid tire and mountain bike tire wheelchair for use in developing countries. They are shipped in 100-280 ocean freight containers and provided free of charge to those most in need. These wheelchairs can cost as much as $1,000 in developing countries.

A donation of $150 sponsors, ships and delivers a chair to someone in need. To date, 912,461 wheelchairs have been delivered to 150 countries in 12 years. Kingston – North Kitsap Rotary is a partner in this mission annually and this year our budget will provide 6 wheelchairs.

Recently Cal Poly State University caught the vision for this mission and found ways to raise funds so they could provide 400 wheelchairs in Peru. They are now working on raising funds to send chairs to Croatia.

Thanks for your support of this vital mission. We share pictures of persons receiving wheelchairs with our Club meeting speakers and donate to the WheelChair Foundation in their name. You should see the smile on recipients of a new wheelchair in a developing country. It speaks for itself!

Making a difference – in the real world...

Posted by Donald Hutchins on Feb 04, 2013

As Rotarians, we share a genuine wish to put Service Above Self – which I'd like to think means we want to make a real difference, in the real world. That requires that we sit back and carefully evaluate how much good we are really going to do before we launch ourselves into a new Service project.

A good example is the recent debate over “what can we do to help the victims of Hurricane Sandy?” Initial thoughts were practical things like “send shovels, so they can dig out”, or “send blankets and warm clothes, so they can survive without heat and utilities” or “send food, so the homeless are at least fed until their homes and lives can be reconstructed”. But a little research by our Community Service Chair Rea Mowery revealed some interesting facts:

- There are already 44 highly competent and well organized service organizations helping Sandy victims up and down the East Coast.
- There are literally thousands of volunteers helping victims in every way you can imagine.
- They already have more shovels, blankets, food et al than they can possibly deliver, because the infrastructure to make those deliveries possible just isn't there.
- Bottom line: any material aid we send is going to go into a long queue, and probably not be delivered until long after the need has abated.

So the real answer is not to fill a perceived need, or create a new aid organization to layer on top of the dozens already there. It's simply to help fund those organizations (I will use the Red Cross as an example, but there are many others) who are already doing everything possible, in the existing situation. And many of us will do exactly that – sending a contribution to the Red Cross or other group who are engaged in Hurricane relief in New York and New Jersey. In many similar cases (Haiti, as a good example) the “real world” problem has a real world solution that is, in a nutshell: “just send money, please”.

“Send money” is in fact what we do in the majority of cases. We carefully scrutinize the bona-fides of a charitable or service organization (say Hug it Forward, building Schools in Guatemala, or The Coffee Oasis, helping homeless teens right here in Kitsap County or the Wheelchair Foundation – providing wheelchairs for crippled folk all over the globe) and when we're happy that their cause is one we want to join we make a donation, or even repeat donations over a period of years.

We may prefer to do “hands on” service and often enough we can, especially in worthy local activities like food bank collections, blood drives or Village Green improvement projects. But out there in the Real World, most often what's needed is just some of our hard won treasure. I salute you who are willing to share yours with those less fortunate than yourselves! You are true to the principle of Service Above Self...

4 Steps to Achieve Our Clubs Goals

Posted by Meisha Rouser on Feb 04, 2013

Very often, we tend to overestimate what we can do in a year but underestimate what we can do in a few years. By looking ahead and planning for the future, we can set our strategies to accomplish our goals as well as plan for any uncertainties that may lie ahead.

By doing so, you are setting your club to become a strong and powerful club ready to take on the challenges ahead. Sit down with the club and put together your long term plan by setting goals on what your club hopes to accomplish in membership, community contributions, as well as culture and style. Then, break down the goals into a series of steps to ensure you get there. The question then arises, how do we ensure we reach our goals?

1) Forming Measurable Objectives

2) Plan of Action

3) Strategies

4) Tactics

'Engage Rotary, Change Lives' is 2013-14 RI theme

Posted by Meisha Rouser on Jan 15, 2013

RI President-elect Ron Burton will ask Rotarians to Engage Rotary, Change Lives in 2013-14.

He unveiled the RI theme during the opening plenary session of the 2013

International Assembly in San Diego, California, USA, the annual training event for incoming district governors.

"If we really want to take Rotary service forward, then we must make sure that every single Rotarian has the same feeling about Rotary that each one of us here has today," Burton said. "We need to make sure that every Rotarian has a meaningful role to play, that they're all making a contribution, and that their contribution is valued."

Burton said the July launch of The Rotary Foundation's new grant model, Future Vision, makes it an exciting time to be a Rotarian. He said the new grant model, which has been used by about 100 pilot districts since 2010, represents a new era for the Foundation, and will help Rotarians get excited about Rotary's ability to change lives.

But Burton emphasized that the job doesn't end when a new member joins: "It's not done until that new member is engaged in Rotary, inspired by Rotary, and uses the power of Rotary service to change lives."

Top 5 Rotary stories of 2012

Posted by Meisha Rouser on Jan 15, 2013

The year got off to an exciting start in January when India marked a year without a new case of polio. By February, the World Health Organization had removed India from the list of endemic countries. Here's a look back at this and other memorable Rotary events of 2012.

1. India polio free

After going an entire year without a new reported case of polio, India was removed from the list of polio-endemic countries by the World Health Organization (WHO). Ghulam Nabi Azad, India's minister of Health and Family Welfare, made the announcement at the Polio Summit 2012 in New Delhi on 25 February.

2. New grant model

Rotary districts have begun qualifying for The Rotary Foundation's new grant model, which goes into effect for all districts on 1 July. For the past three years, 100 pilot districts have been testing this Future Vision model, providing feedback to help the Foundation refine it.

Packaged grants provide opportunities for Rotary clubs to work with the Foundation's strategic partners on predesigned projects and activities that support the areas of focus and that are funded entirely by the World Fund and the strategic partner. Through a packaged grant in District 3810 (Philippines), Rotarians are teaching more than 2,000 women in Antipolo business skills and ways to balance family and work responsibilities.

3. RI theme

RI President Sakuji Tanaka unveiled the 2012-13 RI theme, Peace Through Service, during the International Assembly in January. The then president-elect urged the Rotary leaders in training to explore the many ways they would be able to build peace through acts of service. He also asked Rotarians to promote three Rotary Global Peace Forums, the first of which was held 30 November to 2 December in Berlin. Remaining forums will be in Honolulu, Hawaii, in January, and Hiroshima, Japan, in May.

4. 2012 RI Convention

More than 35,000 Rotarians from 181 countries and geographical areas converged on Bangkok, Thailand, in May for the 2012 RI Convention. They celebrated successes in the campaign to eradicate polio (see above), and left with renewed energy to continue the fight against the crippling disease.

5. Interact turns 50; peace centers, 10

Interact clubs and their sponsors around the globe celebrated the program's 50th anniversary during World Interact Week, 5-11 November.

The Rotary Peace Centers program marked its 10th anniversary in 2012. The program has been offering master's degrees in peace and conflict resolution at leading universities in Australia, England, Japan, Sweden, and the United States since 2002. In 2004, a three-month professional development certificate program was added at Chulalongkorn University in Thailand.
