"Rob-ing" Members Again

Last weekend, the Great Lakes Chorus became District Champions and, July 8, moves to the International Stage at Planet Hollywood in Las Vegas. If you look closely ← at the image you might see a fellow Rotarian (Ed Note: he's the vest, er, best).

Returning to Club after several years wandering the wilderness, this member plans to reinsert a Rob into Rotary camaraderie. Says he: "It's great to be back after almost a decade away. I remember previously how often I would run into Rotarians after joining here. This is a huge Club and all my guests comment on how nice it is to see such an active group. All the hard working leadership and all the personal donations of time ... are a huge asset."

We're happy to have RIM forerunner alumnus Rob Huisingh Rotarying around in the member pool again. Welcome back.

Presenting This Week

There are many obvious benefits for those who run: weight loss, improved cardiovascular and respiratory health, reduced total blood cholesterol and the strengthening of bones. But did you know community service can also be included? Well, it can be, if you are part of Girls on the Run.

To help ensure that your news / brief announcement gets published, submit it in writing to one of RIM's staffers by Thursday noon for the following week.

Please join us this Monday, May 1 at 6:00pm, to hear Gary Slaughter present a Book talk on his new book, Sea Stories: A Memoir of a Naval Officer (1956 -1967).

Sea Stories brings to life 60 vignettes from Slaughter's naval service including his experience during the Cuban Missile Crisis where Ensign Slaughter was credited with playing a key role in defusing a potential nuclear confrontation between his destroyer and a Soviet submarine armed with a nuclear torpedo. As a writer, Slaughter has the unique skill to see humor and likability in the people and the situations he encountered during his Navy days. – USS Silversides Submarine Museum

NEWS / ANNOUNCEMENTS – PRESIDENT

President Josh Wallace encouraged members to sign-up for the Seaway Run event; and reiterated that the Rotary Club is responsible for getting more school kids involved and asked members to help distribute flyers or assist in any way they can in helping the event be successful.

Meanwhile, Josh became a little antsy and decide to help Fine-meister Kevin Donovan collect bucks from a same gender table, above, one of five ferreted out by keen, money-grubbing eyes. Approaching soon the end of his presidential term, Josh was asked if he'd miss all the rigmarole Rotary presidents put up with. "Oh, I'll miss it," someone reported him saying. "I mean, I'll really, really... really miss it... (pregnant pause)...but not that much." We know he was only being serious. Leading each meeting is the fun part, but there's much more for him to deal with.

NEWS / ANNOUNCEMENTS

Melissa Moore announced that Rotary's Literacy Committee is piloting a project this summer and encouraging Rotarians to volunteer to read during some of the sessions. More details to follow.

Last Week's Program

PEAK Training Academy

Speakers: Terrance Williams and Terrance Taylor

By RIM Reporter Kathy Moore

Terrance "TJ" Williams, below, is continuing his commitment to sports, youth and the local community. The former stand-out football player for the Oakridge Eagles, current owner and president of the West Michigan Ironmen professional football team, co-founder of the WV (sports scholarship) Foundation, practicing sports and entertainment attorney...yes, this is just one individual...is also the owner of the PEAK Training Academy.

Terrance Williams tag-teamed the program presentation with Terrance Taylor, below, another Terrance, yes...but also another great football player from this community who excelled as a football player with the Muskegon Big Reds and the University of Michigan Wolverines. Taylor also achieved NFL exposure with the Indianapolis Colts, Carolina Panthers and Detroit Lions, and is currently on the West Michigan -

Terrance "TK" Williams

Ironmen's team roster.

Taylor will operate/manage the PEAK Training Academy, which is located in the annex of the L.C. Walker Arena in Muskegon. The academy's programs and services expand beyond those of an average fitness center or gym.

Williams stated that they use "sports as a vector towards higher education and community growth." They strive to enhance athletic abilities, improve educational achievement and develop long lasting life skills for up-and-coming athletes in the community. Williams explained that PEAK Elite is the foundational core program tailored towards high school athletes.

Both Williams and Taylor outlined the four pillars of PEAK Elite...philanthropy, education, athletics and knowledge. Taylor highlighted some of the fundamental program components such as strength and conditioning techniques, discipline, character building, humility and teamwork. He also commented that they "help develop young men and women not only as athletes, but also as well-rounded individuals."

It was evident that both presenters were committed to devoting their time and experiences to leaving a long lasting, positive impact on their clients and in the community. For more information, visit www.trainatpeak.com.
