The NCAA's Final Four is set, and the only question left for Loyola Chicago and its "Brave Rotarian" ticket holder Joanie Smith is whether or not the Ramblers have two miracles left in them. We'll know this weekend as will the three other winning teams' hopefuls: Susan Crain, Camille Jourden-Mark and Dan Wheat. One will acquire a Paul Harris Fellowship, leaving two others for all earlier "losers" to draw for. All contributors: http://bit.ly/2GqAC3I (More NCAA on next page)

This Week On Stage

Rotary District 6290 is made up of 60 clubs in western and northwest Michigan and eastern Ontario (Sault Ste. Marie, Wawa and Blind River). Throughout our District many clubs focus on helping people in their own community and throughout the world. We have three types of grants available:

District Local Grants - These grant requests are generally between $500 and $2,500 per club (or $3,500 per club if a collaborative project) and help to support a humanitarian project within your local club's area. Matches for these grants are available from the District on a $1 to $1 basis.

District International Grants - These grant requests are generally between $1,000 and $5,000 per club to fund a project in another country. You must have support by an international (host) Rotary club, or a qualified NGO to assist with this project. Matches for these grants are available from the District on a $1 to $1 basis and matches from The Rotary Foundation are also available.

Global Grants – Projects in excess of $30,000 which help fund an international project and must have the collaboration of an international Rotary club to assist with this project. Matches for Club cash are available from the District up to $10,000. The Rotary Foundation may match Club cash up to 3.5 to 1.

Myrna Olsen will be visiting the Philippines next month. She plans to attend her former Rotary club and present them with a banner from Muskegon Rotary. She writes, "I will visit the Butuan Rotary Club in my hometown. The current president and I are to receive the "Outstanding Butuanons Choice Award" on May 13. Butuan City is the name of my hometown, and we are called Butuanons."

Another excited traveler is Tom Ludwig.

"My wife and I will be there (NCAA Finals, this weekend) in San Antonio. Last time Michigan played Loyola, believe was in 1964 – the Mideast Regional Semifinals - we (UofM) won and headed to the Final Four. Hope all is well in Muskegon!!" Tom

If the basketball game between Loyola-Chicago and Michigan this Saturday is anything like their meeting in the 1964 tournament, they'll be thinking and talking about it more than 50 years from now. That game featured a disputed call, an alleged punch and plenty of tension as the teams traded baskets for much of the way, the only previous time the schools played each other in the NCAA tournament.

The schools had squared off on the basketball court twice during the regular season, but the 1964 NCAA tournament game had a much different feel. Loyola had won the 1963 national title, and the Ramblers looked like contenders to repeat when they took the floor against the lessexperienced Michigan Wolverines March 13, 1964, at Williams Arena on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

But repeating wasn't to be. John Wooden's UCLA Bruins took home the national championship trophy that year, the first of 11 more in a 13-year period.

understanding leadership on the Rotary motto of

JAMES DAY- FROM ONE WHO'S BEEN AT LLC

Report from James Day, Oakridge High School, below, on his experiences last summer at the Rotary Life Leadership Conference....

How were you personally impacted one way or the other by the Life Leadership Conference last summer? This conference has greatly improved my overall confidence and my ability to work with and lead teams of people. This Conference has also led to me having more opportunities in work and school.

Did the conference change the way you see things or do things since you participated? If so, explain please. Yes, it changed how I view leading people. I never was a dictator when it came to leading, but it has changed how I feel instructing and leading people. It is easier now to help lead people to do what is needed.

Of the activities, speakers, etc you experienced at the conference. what were the most valuable (useful) and memorable as far as you are concerned? Johnny Tuitel was my family leader. He was a funnv man with cerebral

palsy. He made me realize that no matter how bad things can be, you always make the best of the worst and still enjoy life. Molly Kennedy, overall, had the most impact on my life though. not in a leadership sense, but in a personal matter. Her motto "Flip your 20", an abbreviation of changing your paradigm, spoke deeply to me. She explained that you are the only one holding vourself back and you can change yourself for the better by changing how you see and do things. The "flip your 20" statement was the most valuable and memorable to me because I see people holding themselves back every day and I do my best to teach them what I use every day.

What kind of Oakridge student should be approached or considered to be a part of this conference? Any particular grade level? I think any student that stands out as a leader in his/her class should be given the opportunity to attend this conference, regardless of grade level.

What needs to be done in your school or our painting the forest in the month of community to develop more student and life leadership do you think? I believe more student involvement should occur to encourage more leadership in the community.

On balance, would you recommend this conference and to what degree and why? | would highly recommend this conference to anyone who would ask and I have recommended it to several Oakridge students who I believe would greatly benefit, as I did.

News/Announcements -President

Our president, Cathy Brubaker-Clarke, shared with us the thank-you from Trader Joe's. Special thanks were given to Pam Babbitt for her special efforts of getting petitions to bring Trader Joe's to Muskegon.

She also shared with us a thank-you to Interact of North Muskegon for their $1600 for work in Ethiopia. This was on special African stationary. Cathy also reminded us that Wes O'Donnell's new book will be released on April 1 at bookstores nationwide! It's all about Michigan and is titled "A Cowboy Without a Coat: How a Texas Exile Learned to Love Michigan."

Cathy reminded us that the Rotarian magazine for April is about the year of the tree: Rotary plants for the future, and she shared a quote from Paul Harris, the tree whisperer - "Trees talk to each other in a language of their own. "How else could they flawlessly orchestrate the brilliant display of color that each fall without fail sets New England ablaze? It seems obvious: in order to dazzle, the trees must first plan, they must plot, they must converse.

"Each tree according to its species is assigned its part," Harris explained. "The mighty oaks, with such help as the sumacs may give in touching up the lower corners, agree to supply the deep wine color admired by all nature lovers; the beech trees, the elms, and the birches supply miles of yellow and red; the maples are never confined to any one color; they are permitted to run wild with everything they have in their paint pots - red, brown, wine color, yellow, green, and what not. All the trees of the forest place their trust in the maples to do the right thing when it comes to October."

Andrew Cutler, right, had his Red Star ceremoniously unremoved (super sticky star glue) by sponsor Josh Silvis. "About time," someone said, and the room went up in roars.

NEWS / ANNOUNCEMENTS -COMMITTEE MEMBERS, AND TOO MANY OTHERS TO EASILY LIST HERE

Iohn Severson, below with Susan Crain, reported that the STRIVE Committee has 10 mentors at CTC. More mentors are always needed.

On May 12 will be the Read Early, Read Often fundraiser. Those folks work with children from birth to age 3; they've visited 700 homes to help encourage reading and literacy. Of the 700, 129 had problems with illegal substances.

Susan Crain reminded us of the District Conference that will be in Holland on May 17-19.

The ReWine Club has adopted a lot at Sherman and Hoyt. Volunteers will be needed to help maintain this property. Pam Babbitt ask anyone who still has petitions for bringing Trader Joe's to Muskegon to please turn them in.

Megan Byard Karaba reported that the Rotary scholarship awards has eight applicants. Four were to be decided on today.

John Noling reported that there will be 15 people going to El Salvador this Saturday on a house building mission. The Life Leadership Committee has interviewed and is recommending 14 people to go to the Life Leadership Conference.

James Day, who attended the Life Leadership Conference last year, talked about how it had benefited him. He thanked us for sending him.

Tim Lipan from the Social Committee reported that the next after-hours event will be bowling at the Eagles Club downtown on Thursday, April 26, from 5 to 8 PM. There will be room for 40 to bowl and 40 to watch. This should be fun and silly. The social committee is trying to have a variety of activities.

We were reminded to vote on the Strong Cities contest. Muskegon is running against Kent, Ohio. This is the final vote.

There was also mention about the Paul Harris Final Four Tournament concluding this weekend in San Antonio. Secretary Nancy reminded participants to get their hundred dollars paid. Read more about it in RIM on pp 1-2.

Last Week's Program Toward a Drug-Free Muskegon County

By RIM Reporter Susan Holkeboer

Dave Alexander introduced Kate Kesteloot Scarbrough from The Coalition for a Drug-Free Muskegon County. Kate, a native of Muskegon County, returned to Whitehall in October 2007.

The Coalition was formed in 2004. It now receives funding in-kind. Trinity Health provides staffing support through community benefit dollars to pay for Laura Fitzpatrick's time & talent found that prescriptions rates are larger and more. Laura is the Coalition manager and advocacy and community benefit program manager for Mercy Health in Muskegon. Lakeshore Regional Entity - Partnership of Success also provides major funding.

The Coalition was established by the Health Project and, in February 2015, was nationally recognized for its efforts to reduce alcohol, tobacco, and prescription drug use in the area. It was named the GOT OUTCOMES! Coalition of Excellence Award winner by the Community Anti-Drug Coalition of America.

Kate gave a lot of facts and figures about alcohol and substance abuse in Muskegon County.

The Coalition works to reduce substance abuse by acting as an organizing body for over 50 community organizations such as schools, healthcare providers, lawenforcement, govern organizations, and civic leaders, as well as business and youth.

They are in their third five-year strategic plan. They are working on six areas with targeted objectives to handle specific challenges in the community including Muskegon Alcohol Liability Initiative, Knowsmoke – Tobacco Reduction Coalition, Muskegon Area Medication Disposal Project, and the Alliance for Marijuana Prevention. teen pregnancy, and alcohol abuse. So far teen binging has been reduced by 51%, teen smoking has been reduced by 45%, and 31,000 pounds of unused medications have been collected.

Jill Montgomery Keast stated the Coalition uses local, state, federal, medical, and public health data in everything they do. One finding was that hepatitis C is on the increase.

There is an opioid task force headed by Dr Katrina Olson. The group has in our county, and that more education needs to be done with physicians on alternatives to prescriptions. There's been a 300% increase for heroin treatment when treatment with medication is often more effective.

Pam Beane also spoke. On April 28, there will be a medication take back dav.

Cherry Health Clinic has found methadone is safe for pregnancy.

Don't start with pain medication or decrease the time it's prescribed fore.
