WOODHOUSE-NAREEB HALL PROJECT

Guest Speaker Jenny Edwards spoke about the project how it had come about and how it was planned.

This Anzac Day, the Woodhouse-Nareeb community held a special commemoration service, the first the community has held in nearly 20 years.

Hundreds of people connected to the community returned for this very special event.

The community had been working for the past two years to restore its memorial grounds, replant memorial trees and update the plaques with the women's names.

It is also working on an ongoing project of researching and recording the histories of the soldier-settler women. Thank you for a passionate and interesting talk, Jenny.

President Leo, with Jenny Edwards.
