Contributions to The Rotary Foundation

You may from time to time make contributions to the Rotary Foundation. After you become a Paul Harris Fellow (A contribution of $1,000 or more) you start accumulating additional points. You will acquire one point for each dollar you donate. These points are in addition to the ones you earn for your contribution and may be used to recognize someone else with a Paul Harris Fellow after you accumulate 1,000 points or merge your points with other points in order to recognize someone else. In the event you leave Rotary and have available points in your account, we ask that you make these points available to the Foundation Committee of the Club so that they may use them to recognize some worthy person with a Paul Harris Fellow. In that your contributions are not refundable, we also request that if you have less than $1,000 in your account when you leave Rotary, that the balance in your account also be transferred to the Foundation Committee. If you wish to make the balance of your account and/or any available points available to the Foundation Committee, should you leave Rotary, please initial here: _____
