Club members, Dave Wright, Rob Latimer and Carl Dowden hear Michael Shafer extoll the excellence and relevance of the Rotary International magazine to issues we face in the world.

Barry opened the meeting 7:30 am with the Pledge of Allegiance, the Rotary 4-Way Test and a blessing offered by Mike Shafer. Barry reminded the club that Red Hook Rotary donated $250 in support of Casino night – a Rotary region 3 fundraiser on April 27 for Rotary International. He has two tickets. He will be going. He also noted that on Saturday and Sunday, May 4-5 and May 11-12, 2019, the Red Hook Rotary club will be volunteering at the children's playground off Linden Avenue. Volunteers will be cleaning and installing new equipment. Each participant should bring a rake or a hammer. Since Apple Blossom day – the club's annual fund raiser in Red Hook – will take place on May 11th, volunteers for the playground should plan to go on May 5th. Recollecting the successful event on March 26, 2019 at which Franceska Macsali-Urbin spoke, Barry asked our own club member Jonah Triebwasser aka "Eleanor and Franklin" to share his re-enactment of Eleanor and Franklin, discussing the Italian campaign. It does better in the original, than it would in the retelling.

Barry then introduced member, Michael Schafer (welcome back), who extolled the Rotary International magazine that we all receive, noting that it contained excellent articles on what Rotary is achieving in the world. He noted that it is full of retirees taking care of people all over the world. He concluded that the Red Hook Rotary Club was doing its own service worldwide through the Shelter box and aqua box contributions as well as our local “Clynk” endeavor.

Radio Rotary this week featured an interview with Susan Simon and Beth Jones. Jonah is on his way to the Lawyer’s academy at Cornell this coming week. All members were reminded of the Interact club’s raffle – a chance for $5. Susan Simon and Chris Chale will be attending the district conference in Stockbridge, MA later this month.

Attendance was 78% of membership. Happy dollars= $50

Red Hook Rotary Club seeks host families for our inbound youth exchange students. Watch this spot for further information. Contact Chris Chale with volunteer families

The next meeting on April 9, 2019 will be a club business meeting. The club board meeting will be Monday, April 8, 2019.
