

This Holiday Season, give them the gifts they want the most!

An education. Clean water. Fresh vegetables.

Rhinebeck Interact Club

is a high school organization sponsored by Rhinebeck Rotary which implements a variety of local and international service projects each year.

Once again this year, in collaboration with the Albert Schweitzer Institute, their international project is to provide needed improvements at a rural school in La Ceiba, Nicaragua so that the children of that school can enjoy both the intellectual and physical nourishment that our children experience every day.

A group of about twenty Rhinebeck high school students and their advisors will travel to Nicaragua at their own expense in Spring 2011 to implement the Project.

Here's just a few examples of how your donation gift can help:

$60 pays the tuition of an elementary school student for a year

$180 pays the tuition of a high school student for a year

$250 sends a student to English classes at Alianza Americana

$1,000 builds a bio-sand water filtration system

$1,500 plants and irrigates their entire vegetable garden

$10,000 builds a whole new classroom or cafeteria building
