ONEONTA ROTARY COMMITTEES

Please select at least 2 committees you are interested in

SERVICE TO CLUB

Audit Committee

Responsible for auditing the books on an annual basis

Birthdays

Individual contributors responsible for monthly celebration of member's birthdays.

Fines

Individual contributors who are on a rotational schedule. This is a fun committee in charge of soliciting proud dollars, happy dollars, etc and levying fines against our members.

Finance Committee

Develop annual budget for board review and approval. Meet periodically to review club finances.

Fundraising Committee

Reviews the fundraisers that the club currently has and helps determine if new fundraisers are needed

House Committee:

Responsible for getting to the meeting place early to set up the podium, bell, flags, song books, etc and to take lunch and raffle money. Also responsible for cleanup of the items. Members are assigned to a certain Thursday of the month. For example one will always be responsible for the first Thursday and someone different for the second Thursday.

Invocation

Individual contributors who are on a rotational schedule who give a weekly invocation

Membership/Retention and Attendance

Coordinates recruitment, induction, orientation, mentoring and retention of club members, and consists of several sub-committees.

Program Committee

Club members take responsibility for providing programs for one month. Guidelines for programs can be provided by the committee if needed. We always strive for variability and interest for programs. Solicitation is not appropriate. The committee also ensures equipment is available and that program information is provided to the secretary for publication in the newsletter.

Rotary Information and Orientation

The chair is responsible for getting new member information and setting up a meeting (usually a breakfast meeting) with the committee. At the meeting club information will be presented to the proposed new member as well as information on Rotary International.

Songs/Music

Individual contributors who are on a rotational schedule who lead our songs each week
