

Last week's meeting

Roy Miller

East Texas Regional Airport

Gregg County aviation has seen a lot of changes in the years since the terminal at East Texas Regional Airport opened in 1947, Airport Director Roy Miller told members and guests last week. Not least among those changes have been changes to the terminal itself.

"It was renovated in 1987 and then we renovated it again the last two years," said Miller, who took over the airport in late 2012. "It's named after Henry Atkinson, and we rededicated it this past year. Judge Atkinson put a lot of support in the airport out there, spent a lot of money, and it's really something Gregg County can be proud of."

The most recent renovation, a $4.6 million job that was dedicated this past fall, brought an expanded passenger check-in area, a 650-square foot jet bridge to protect passengers from the elements while boarding and leaving American Eagle flights, an expanded baggage carousel and expanded waiting and reception areas with new restrooms. From outside, according to before and after pictures Miller showed, the terminal looks completely different than it did before.

Inside, an old feature of the airport was uncovered and has been turned into a jewel of the renovation. As demolition was underway at the beginning of the project, an original terra cotta floor engrained with a map of Gregg County and surrounding cities was discovered and has become a centerpiece of the terminal.

Miller made clear that commercial aviation is only one part of a multifaceted operation at the airport, however. He referred to LeTourneau University's aviation program there as "one of the best professional aviation schools in the country." There are two fixed base operators on the airport, he said, referring to Stebbins Aviation and KRS, which both offer services to general aviation. Aerosmith Aviation Inc. is a company that paints and refurbishes aircraft from the smallest Cessna to a 737, Miller said, and Gregg Aircraft Services repairs airplanes of all types. In addition to all that, the Texas Department of Public Safety maintains an aviation unit at the airport.

"We also have a great community of general aviation," Miller said, referring to the non-commercial activity at the airport. It includes a fleet of about 20 privately operated jets and about as many turboprops. "So there's a lot of activity here."

Time to update roster information

We are in the process of updating our membership roster for the coming Rotary year. That means it's time again to make sure your information (mailing addresses, email addresses, phone numbers) is up to date and complete.

Today or next Tuesday, please take a few moments to find the roster at the check-in table and check your information. If corrections are needed, please make them with the red pen supplied there. Thank you for your timely attention to this matter.

Last week's visitors and guests

Visitors: Joe Wallace, Longview Greggton. Guests: Jacquelyn Simpson, guest of Andy Khoury. Jan Forester, guest of Sam Forester. Roy Miller, speaker.

Club to pay for members to attend district installation

Because we are the host club for Saturday's Installation of Club and District Officers here in Longview, your board last week voted in favor of reimbursing all Rotary Club of Longview members' registration fees for the event.

The installation is set for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Hilton Garden Inn, 905 E. Hawkins Parkway. Incoming District Governor Lee Montgomery and District 5830 officers for 2016-17 will be installed, along with assistant governors, club presidents and officers for clubs that wish to participate.

Registration for the event, which will begin with cocktails and includes lunch, costs $50. To register, visit rotary5830.org, go to the left column, click the link for installation and follow instructions to register.

"Reservations are open until Saturday, but name tags and reservation check-in sheet will be printed earlier," said DGE Montgomery. "Don't miss seeing the installation of officers and awards to be presented."

Independence Day flag duty coming up

Caught your breath from Flag Day flag duty? Good! Independence Day flag duty is right around the corner.

Flag team captains today are receiving route sheets for July 4. According to the schedule, we will be beautifying Longview with flags on Friday, July 1, and they will be returned Tuesday, July 5. The flag barn will be open from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. both days.

Please arrange your schedules so you can do your part for this project, which is so important to our club and our city.

Next week's meeting

Club Assembly – With the Rotary year drawing to a close, next week's meeting will be a club assembly. We will hear from President Scott Novy about accomplishments and lessons learned in the 2015-16 year, and your 2016-17 board and officers will be installed.

Calendar of events

Saturday: District Installation of Officers, Hilton Garden Inn. 11 a.m.-1 p.m.

June 28: Club assembly, installation of 2016-17 board and officers.
