Today's Speaker:

Guy Hatcher

Most business owners struggle when it comes to defining their "perfect client." Since they're not sure who they're looking for, they blog, post on social media, send out mailings or launch email blasts, advertise, network like crazy or even cold call - all in the hopes someone, somewhere, will say "yes." But according to Guy Hatcher, CFP, CEO of CoVergence Group, a Southlake-based consulting firm, when business owners focus their time and energy toward establishing the right goals and identifying the best people, they usually find the clients they really want, really can help and who can afford them.
