PROGRAM SPEAKERS: Jonathan Teater and Travis Crouse, Up and Coming Entrepreneurs.

Both Jonathan and Travis recently competed in an Entrepreneurial competition where individuals presented their business concepts and plans to venture capitalists and other business professionals. Both were selected as finalists.

Jonathan Teater's concept is to have a smart phone app named, Best Beginnings/Parent Trax. The applications primary function would be to connect parents to various activities and other parents. The app would contain parent resources, would be interactive by means of being able to communicate with other like minded parents, and also providers of services. The app would also be revenue based with the primary source being businesses who want to be listed within the app.

Travis Crouse's concept is to have an app that primarily targets individuals frequenting the bar scene, as well as those individuals who are bar owners. The driving mechanism of this app would be the ability to "clunk" others and to be "clunked". The act of "banging" your smart phone against someone else's and accumulating points to earn badges of all sorts. The benefits to those engaging in the act of clunking are that they can tell where all of their friends are located and what spots are happening around town. The benefits to the bar owners are many; patron advertising, push marketing, customizable, and analytics.

Both concepts are in their initial stages and in need of further refinement. Stay tuned for more excitement in the world of smart phone applications.

Don't worry when you are not recognized, but strive to be worthy of recognition.

Abraham Lincoln

With the Abraham Lincoln movie coming out that looks to be a great movie, I thought this quote from our 16th president would be good to share. This quote exemplifies Service Above Self. We shouldn't worry about being recognized or not but we should be striving to be people of integrity who are worthy of recognition. To those of you who already do this and live your lives this way, Thank You for being a great Rotarian and an example to us all.
