Inbound Marcellin Niset Presentation

Hi everyone, for those who still don't know me, I am Marcellin Niset, your exchange student from Belgium for the year 2015/16. Today's my day to speak in front of the club. I mean, I have a bit more time than usual to speak about my country, my culture and who I am. But let's talk here a bit more about myself.

I am born in Belgium on January 23rd, 1998 in a city south of Brussels, in the French speaking part of Belgium. I live in a village of 800 inhabitants and my closest neighbors are sheep and cows. But Belgium is a tiny country so I don't have to go really far to find some civilization. Indeed, I went to school 10 miles away in a city called Dinant, where the creator of the saxophone was born. I already graduated in Belgium with a distinction in English. I started learning the language of Shakespeare in grade 7. I specialized myself in mathematics and latin in High School.

I've always been keen on acting. I participated in many plays and had theatre lessons since I was 12. I performed in front of various audience into totally different roles. From a little prince to a threatening husband, I especially enjoyed working on Shakespeare, Bertolt Brecht and Saint Exupéry. I've also been a member of the scouts for 10 years and learned skills such as autonomy and independence.

My parents are both hard-working. My father, Dominique Niset, is a consultant in tourism and created his own company. My mother, Monique Baudoin, is a psychologist and teaches at college. I also have a 20-year-old sister, Blanche, who is studying philosophy in Brussels and a 27-year-old half brother who is working all around Europe for a company named « Take Eat Easy ».
