This Week's Program:

Vocational Service Awards

October is Vocational Service Month. As we focus on the challenge of Rotary to use our vocations and our talents to serve the community and the world, we honor those around us who exemplify the Rotary ideals. Keeping in mind the Rotary motto of "Service Above Self," and considering the Four-Way Test, the Vocational Service Awards Committee read through some excellent nominations in five categories: Business, Nonprofit, Public Sector, and Adult and Youth Individual. With thanks to the Rotarians and other members in the community who made thoughtful nominations, five Awards will be presented today.

Each of those recognized, whether an individual, a business, or a program, has contributed to the quality of life we enjoy in our community. By giving beyond normal expectations of their time, skills and talents, each of our recipients has made a difference, directly or indirectly, in the lives of all.

As Rotarians, we applaud the commitment these people have made to contribute to the well being of others, and the ethical standards they represent. They are the standard bearers, those who remind us all that Service Above Self can change the world. We thank and honor them for their service.

RI NEW: REPRESENTATIVES TO GLOBAL ORGANIZATIONS INCREASE ROTARY'S IMPACT

Students in Ecuador read books they received through an international project sponsored by the Rotary clubs of Annapolis, Maryland, and Quito Occidente, Ecuador. The project is part of an ongoing collaboration between Rotary and the Organization of American States.

MAKE A DATE WITH MARCELIN

Time to schedule your date with Marcelin! Remember if you are unable to plan activities during the week you're assigned, we need you to find another rotarian to fill that week so we keep Marcelin having fun the entire time he's in Juneau!

Marcellin can be contacted directly either through his email address: marcellin.niset@hotmail.com; or via cell phone @ 907 209-4406. He is very prompt in responding to either medium.

ROTARIAN MAGAZINE: CALIFORNIA'S DROUGHT MAY NOT BE YOUR DROUGHT, BUT IT WILL BE SOON ENOUGH

In June, in the middle of the worst drought in California's settled history, San Francisco did something bold that got almost no attention. The city passed an ordinance requiring all new developments of a certain size – commercial or residential – to install water recycling systems right on-site. Any new development of 250,000 square feet or larger will have to collect rainwater and gray water, clean it, and reuse it in the building or development for toilets, washing machines, and landscaping irrigation. New buildings with the recycling systems also will be able to sell this water to nearby buildings and developments.

With that ordinance – which passed the board of supervisors unanimously – San Francisco became the first city in the United States to make on-site water recycling mandatory. In the middle of the drought, the city was getting ready for the next one, the drought that will come in 2022 or 2052.
