This Week's Program: Samantha Abernathy and Judge Levy, Therapeutic Court Program

What is the Juneau Therapeutic Court?

The Juneau Therapeutic Court (JTC) is a jail diversion program for those charged with felony alcohol and/or drug related offenses. The program offers substance abuse treatment and community supervision to support abstinence and recovery. Entry into the program is not automatic. Each request to participate in JTC is reviewed on a case by case basis.

VOCATIONAL SERVICE AWARDS

Nominations for Vocational Service Awards are open until September 22. Pick up a form from the table or look for it as a download at www.juneaurotary.org. The committee is also accepting nominations from people throughout the community, so you are invited to copy and pass out these forms to your co-workers and friends. Please note there are five categories this year: business, individual, government, nonprofit, and a new one, YOUTH SERVICE. This is our chance as Rotarians to recognize Service Above Self at work in the community. See the following committee members for more information or to turn in hard copies of your nominating information.

Contact the committee -- Sally Smith, Wayne Stevens, Armando DeGuzman, Jane Sebens and Courtney Nelson.

ROTARIAN - PAKISTAN'S PROGRESS: SNAPSHOTS FROM THE POLIO CAMPAIGN

Nearly 90 percent of the world's polio cases last year occurred in Pakistan. But the country is making dramatic progress in its quest to eradicate the disease: Cases are down by almost 70 percent to date compared with 2014, owing partly to military interventions that year in Taliban-controlled North Waziristan, which have allowed vaccinators to reach hundreds of thousands of children who were previously inaccessible. Improved government leadership, the introduction of inactivated polio vaccine in high-risk districts, and vaccinations at transit points such as railways, airports, and bus stops also have played a significant role. "While Pakistan continues to face obstacles in its journey to polio eradication, we are excited about the current progress being made," says Mike McGovern, chair of Rotary's International PolioPlus Committee, who met with Rotarians and government officials during a visit to the country in June.
