PROGRAM – Cabeza de Vaca in Texas

James Everett

In many respects, the Historic Period in Texas began with the arrival of Cabeza de Vaca in 1528. For the next 7 years, Cabeza and 3 companions traveled through South Texas and northern Mexico, working their way toward Spanish settlements in New Spain. During their years in Texas, they lived with several Native American groups and had contacts with many more. Cabeza became the first European to write about the natives of South Texas and the Rio Grande, including their ritual weeping, stone boiling, and consumption of prickly pear cactus and mesquite. Today, James Everett from the Tarrant County Archeological Society will examine the context for Cabeza's expedition and what Cabeza had to say about the Native Texans with whom he came in contact.

James Everett has a BA and an MA in Spanish and taught at the secondary level before beginning a 32-year career with the Social Security Administration, where he worked in three Regions and SSA Headquarters. Mr. Everett retired as the Regional Commissioner of the 6-State Denver Region, and then worked in the private sector, where he managed a tax office and later conducted investigations for Federal security clearances. For 4 years, he taught leadership, management, communication, and meeting facilitation skills for a company called The Graduate School. He is an anthropologist and a linguist, and is currently the North Texas Regional Director of the Texas Archeological Society.

Sign up soon for the Rotary Beverage Booth shifts and bring your friends and family to help - Make Bill Walsh's life easier by not waiting until the last minute! Also note that Bill has scheduled alcohol training at the Lancaster Theater 11:15 AM on Wednesday, September 6, 2017, immediately before our Rotary meeting, for members who will be working in the Rotary beverage booth during GrapeFest. This is for those who have not received this training or those who would like a refresher to attend to keep you out of jail!

Strategic Plan for Rotary: The first step in our strategic planning effort is to give everyone an opportunity provide the Board with your input looking two to three years into the future on how you would like our club to be. On page three in this bulletin, under each of the five avenues of service, look at what we are presently doing. On October 4th, a portion of our meeting will be to put your vision on paper. These are things we are not presently doing or that we could improve. The Board will then develop a strategic plan on how we intend to get there. You can send your thoughts in advance by emailing them in a sentence or two to Allen Barraclough at: abear727@aol.com

Emma has used more than 80 pints of blood during the course of her treatment for neuroblastoma. Help us help people like Emma by donating at Grapevine Rotary's August 30th Blood Drive!
