ROTARY: MAKING A

PROGRAM – The Buzz About Honey Bees

Chris Coy

Chris started beekeeping in 2012 to add pollinators into his backyard for improved yields on fruit trees, grapevines, and vegetables in his backyard. Not only did the honey bees help improve production, but beekeeping opened a fascinating world of how honey bees work, organize their colonies, and affect a third of our food through pollination. With six hives now in his backyard, he has abundant fruit, vegetables, and honey, and is passionate about educating others about these insects that are a vital part of our food chain.

Chris has lived in Grapevine for 28 years, but was born in Japan and moved to the area when DFW Airport opened. Chris and fellow Rotarian Traci have been married 21 years, and have three children: Kristen (9th grade at Grapevine High), Peter (7th grade at Cross Timbers Middle), Joshua (5th grade at Heritage Elementary), and three dogs, in addition to about a quarter-million honey bees. Chris and Traci enjoy travelling, having been to 107 and 87 countries respectively across all seven continents, and spending time with our family.

The yard and landscaping projects are a welcome diversion from Chris' occupation as Director of Financial Planning & Analysis at GameStop, based here in Grapevine, where he leads the forecasting, budgeting, and various analytical initiatives for the $9 billion company. Chris also serves as a member of Grapevine's City Council, currently in his fourth term, and a board member of the Grapevine Colleyville Education Foundation. He holds a Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance from the University of Texas at Arlington and a Master of Business Administration from Southern Methodist University. Chris is also an Eagle Scout.

Rotary News & Notes

Strategic Plan for Rotary: The first step in our strategic planning effort is to give everyone an opportunity provide the Board with your input looking two to three years into the future on how you would like our club to be. On page three in this bulletin, under each of the five avenues of service, look at what we are presently doing. On October 4th, a portion of our meeting will be to put your vision on paper. These are things we are not presently doing or that we could improve. The Board will then develop a strategic plan on how we intend to get there. You can send your thoughts in advance by emailing them to Allen Barraclough at: abear727@aol.com

Flag Duty:

Columbus Day Flag Duty is October 9th. Please review page four of this bulletin to see if you are one of the Rotarians responsible for placing the flags on Main Street this day. If so, you are to meet at the Grapevine Train Depot at 6:45 a.m. and 5:45 p.m. to put up and take down the flags along Main Street.

As a reminder, it is your responsibility to be there or to trade with someone for your day, have a friend or family member fill in for you. It is not up to the Flag Committee or Chairmen to provide your replacement! This and our Scholarship Fund Raising are the two activities that all Club members are expected to do your part!!!

Dog Fest:

Thanks to the Rotarians who represented the Grapevine Chamber for the Dog Fest event supporting Canines for Companions!
