OUR SUPPORT!

LAST WEDNESDAY'S PROGRAM

A group of traveling Rotarians presented banners from far off clubs they visited recently. Gwynn Raymond added the pennants of Santa Paula and San Francisco, California and Honolulu, Hawaii; Henry Glass had been to Rome and London; Sam Montgomery visited Rome, Paris and Florence and Lou Yaeger described his visit to his former Rotary Club in Madison, Wisconsin.

Lawyer, Reagan Burch spoke in favor of and James Hipperd spoke against State Right-to-Work Laws. These are permitted by Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Bill and Congress is presently considering repeal of this Section.

Supporters of these laws, 19 states have them, maintain that the law is necessary to protect the rights of individual workers from union domination. Opponents claim that such laws provide no particular protection to the individual and are basically anti-union.

The Texas Right-to-Work Law simply states that no individual shall be required to be a member of a union in order to obtain a job. His status with the union after employment is not covered by this law.

This issue is an important one and deserves careful unemotional analysis by each of us!
