The meeting was brought to order at 6:40.

Kim Starkweather reported that the road clean-up was a success, with good participation and four bags of detritus collected, including, piece-by-piece, a cell phone, a bowl, and many, many cigarette butts.

Shelly reminded us of the District Conference to be held next Friday through Sunday, celebrating, among other things, 50 years of Rotary Youth Exchange. We are looking forward to seeing many former exchange students.

Bill Overbaugh noted that South Seneca Schools wants to participate in the book program, and that he can send over some of his employees and a truck to pick up the books and bring them back to Ehrharts for us to sort and pack on a Thursday night in place of a regular meeting. Ben Guthrie noted that it's expensive to send these books overseas, and it was suggested that we get another club to share in the expense, perhaps the noon-time Ithaca club.

Ben reminded us that there's just one month until the golf tournament, and that we need to have more gifts.

We had a report from our former youth exchange student, Alix, visiting from Australia, about readjustment after youth exchange. She is finishing high school, working at a Target, and planning to save money to visit Ampy, who was an exchange student at the same time she was, and to travel through Brazil. She is planning, eventually, to attend college and study international aid and development.

Hilary Gifford suggested that she might get funding from Rotary peace-studies fellowships.

Our exchange student Maria reported that she had her last ballet recital, and will bring her family to her last Rotary meeting. She said she still wants to study journalism in college.

Our exchange student Lisa said the SPCA is planning a farewell party for her, and that it's hard for her to leave without taking a couple of cats with her.

Meeting was adjourned at 7:50.
