Rotarian from Providence, RI. Peter was a former player for NE Patriots in the 1980's, on the same team as John Hannah (also his roommate) and Steve Grogan. He spoke inspirationally about the qualities of football and training and how they give examples of true leadership and importance to “do the right thing right!” It takes blood & sweat to create a strong bond, in his case in a huddle. The life's lesson is never forgotten. He encourage the teams to “do your job”; “know what to do”; “develop trust”. And, he shared his “secret” of how he learned to play. On November 13, 1983, despite a knee injury he “kept playing” and learned the meaning of “giving 110%” one play and one day at a time. It requires just “one more play” It's a challenge but a life's lesson for all. ▲▲

This includes people serving others working in many of our local non-profits and faith-based organizations. It is our responsibility to communicate that hate and discrimination are not acceptable. This takes action; making calls, personal visits and any other effective communications to elected officials and other leaders. We need to take....
