

Tony Wagner the new president of the Rotary Club of South Portland/Cape Elizabeth speaks to club members about his high hopes for the coming year at a recent meeting. Wagner became president of the fifty-member on June 27, . Over the past twenty-five years, Wagner has served Rotary in a variety of roles. He and his wife, Sally Campbell, are major supporters of the Rotary Foundation. Tony says their four grown children have all benefited from his Rotary membership. Following in the family tradition, their oldest son is now serving as secretary of a Rotary Club in New Jersey. He is the Business Unit Manager of Intelligent Controls, in Saco. Earlier in his career, he worked for a utility company in New York, and for a large chemical firm (which brought him to Maine); he also worked for a Swedish importer of large pumping equipment. In addition to his Rotary activities, Tony is a member of St. Bartholomew's Church.
