At Texas Children's Hospital, Jessica Garza is a senior speech-language pathologist and an educator for the upWORDS program. Jessica educates families in both English and Spanish on early language and brain development. Her background as a speech therapist supports her role in upWORDS in informing parents about the importance of interactive talk for brain growth and language stimulation. In addition, Jessica informs families about resources available to them should their child need early intervention. Being a parent herself and partaking in the upWORDS program, Jessica enjoys sharing her own personal experiences with families.
