Kurt's Korner

By Kurt Bartley

Ring the bells for Salvation Army is an experience of giving of yourself, your time, your smiles and reaching out. All types of people graced the entrance of the Hobby Lobby. When the families came to the door, the eyes of their children were wide with curiosity. What was this bell ringing and this red kettle? We observed that the children were the ones who melted the parents' hearts to give money during this Season of Love. The children were the ones who caused the parents to stop and remember others during this season of having too much to do. This was our second year ringing the bell and it is a beautiful way to give of yourself, flash them your smile and wish those coming and going a "Merry Christmas." And this helps us all to stop and remember that this is the season of giving....Thank you to all who rang the bells this past Friday! Check out the photos in this Hubcap.

In closing this week, I take this opportunity to wish you and your families a Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays. Blessings of peace and goodwill.

Serve to change lives,

Kurt,

President, 2021-22

The main feature of this meeting was hearing the wonderful varsity choir of Bowie High School directed by Jermaine Lobaugh. I was impressed by this acappella group! What a joy it was listen to a great variety of music with such talented singers who surely worked hard!

A book was presented to Webb Elementary in Jermain Lobaugh's honor.

After the performance, David Wilbanks introduced Aaron Perales, AISD executive director of Engagement, Equity and Access. Mr. Perales spoke about his days as a teacher at Webb Elementary, and then gave everyone who could stay, a tour of the beautiful Visual and Performing Arts Center. 🌟

This smaller performance hall was the best, until we saw the much larger one.

AISD Center for Visual and Performing Arts provided a great meeting space.

Aaron Perales, AISD Executive Director of Engagement, Equity and Access traced his story to Rotary through Webb.

The Bowie Varsity Choir gave a wonderful performance of holiday music.
