This Week: Robin Tomlinson and Nancy MacKowiak will present “Protecting yourself from identity theft.”

Last Week: Deborah Hollinrake, CEO of Intentional Power and a life activation practitioner, addressed the Club. Deborah demonstrated, in an audience participation format, a way to reduce stress by tapping energy points on your face and body while saying what is bothering you. The energy points are similar to acupuncture points. Ms. Hollinrake is affiliated with the Tree of Health Center in Newton.

Guests: None.

Announcements:

Jerry Nechamkin announced that set-up for the pancake breakfast will be at 6 AM Saturday, rather than Friday night, because the church will be using the building on Friday night. Tickets have been distributed. Please purchase your six tickets and if you are unable to use them, please give them to someone who can attend. An email is going out this week to Club members soliciting place-mat ads. Finally, see Barbara Wortmann, Denise Current or Natalie Gooding to contribute to the bake sale.

The Volleyball Tournament, which benefits the Gift of Life, will be held on Friday, March 28th (the last Friday in March).

John Roberts announced that the Membership Committee has planned a fireside chat for new members. There will also be a membership promotion during the month of March when prospective members eat lunch for free. The Committee has distributed a request to contribute names of prospective members from each Newton Rotarian.

The Club received a thank you note from the Agricultural Learning Center at the Fairgrounds.

Michael Hannifan is happy that his son was selected to represent his school in the MathCounts competition.

Charles Grotyohann was happy to watch the Newton/Jefferson basketball game. Jefferson is still undefeated. The game was covered by local media because Steven Kelly, on the Newton team, made his 1,000th basket!

50/50: Bob Shankman won $13, but left $424 in the pot.
