This Week: Sally Epstein, Merle Johnson and Lesley Draper will be here to speak to us about 'Impact 100' an organization dedicated to engaging women in philanthropy by collectively providing high impact grants to nonprofits serving the counties of Morris, Passaic, Somerset or Sussex.

Last Week: Bob Morgenstern spoke about the District Ethics Committee. When lawyers commit ethics violations, the committee recommends discipline. The procedure to carry out a complaint is complex; involving contacting the Morristown District 10 secretary, who passes it on to an appointed investigator, who interviews the complainant, then reports to the attorney. The attorney writes a report for the committee, and if warranted, it goes before a judge, where a prosecutor is appointed. Typical violations consist of: using or taking clients' money, lack of client communication, neglect of clients' case, fraud and misrepresentation, conflict of interest, excessive fees, criminal conduct, and disrespect of a judge. A lively discussion ensued.

Guests:

Caroline Bulter, VP, Rotaract Club, SCCC

Chris Wolvington, Architect

Ralph Vigiletti, Alice Vigiletti's husband.

The guests were welcomed by Steve McNally.

Announcements:

Jan Pasculli encouraged 100% donation to the Bake Sale for the March 8 Pancake Breakfast, whether baked goods or financial contribution.

Charles Grotyohann reminded everyone to sign up to bring prospective club members to the free lunch during March "Bring a Guest Lunch".

John Roberts would like to have 12 teams for the March 28 Volley Ball Gift of Life Games at the SCCC Gym. Sign- up sheets were distributed. Jim Porter will be working on the Gift of Life Gala.

Caroline Butler, VP of the SCCC Rotaract Club, reported that the January Zumbathon event brought in $500 for the March of Dimes. Another Zumbathon will be held in April at the SCCC Gym.

Steve McNally reminded members that Alice will collect items next week to post on eBay for raising funds for Rotary.

John Frank announced that Bob Preston, originally of Newton, was being honored by a Rotary Club in Virginia and all were invited to attend.

History:

Bob Shankman talked about 10 plane crashes in Sussex County.

Picture Fines:

Jan Pasculli attended an event at Mirage Productions and was caught in a news shot.

Happy $:

Denise Current is happy that her table had 100% sign-ups for the Bake Sale for the Pancake Breakfast of March 8.

Jim Porter shared some time with John Patrick Stanley, Pulitzer Prize winner, recipient of many awards, and writer of films, such as "Moonstruck" and "Doubt".

Bud Luthman was happy to have lived through a helicopter crash and the $85-a-plate dinner in honor of some judges.

Gail Phoebus is grateful to have come through the hard time of losing her mother and father and then to welcome her new baby granddaughter.

Carolyn Ottenbreit's son's team won their game.

Steve McNally's son, a 19 year old baseball player, began the season in Virginia starting as center fielder.

Charlie Grotyohann gave his weekly Sports Update on Newton Basketball. Tuesday night was Senior Night, and next Tuesday is the deciding game to see if his son's team goes to the state playoffs.

50/50:

Pam Lazzara won $60 in the lottery and left $460 in the pot.

Misc:

Carl Lazzara passed the Newton Rotary Wheel on to Bob Morgenstern, as the last club speaker.
