The Second Rotary President From Scotland Embarks On His Hope-filled Agenda

excerpted from story on Rotary.org

Gordon McInally, a dentist, is the second RI President from Scotland. His wife Heather is a classically trained former professional opera singer and music teacher. The couple have two daughters, Rebecca and Sarah and two grandchildren, Ivy and Florence. He describes Heather as "a very, very tolerant lady who has been a great support to me over the years."

"My parents instilled in me and my late brother a sense of helping and caring for others that has remained with me for life," he says. "My personal faith, and my upbringing within a family with a similarly strong faith, has definitely impacted my life choices and career."

McInally owned and ran a busy dental practice in Scotland's capital for more than three decades, retiring in 2016. He held teaching and examining posts and served as a branch chairman of the British Paedodontic Society (now the British Society of Paediatric Dentistry). After living for years in South Queensferry, the McInallys relocated to Scottish Borders when he stepped back from day-to-day practice.

McInally's own Rotary journey began at 26. He joined the South Queensferry club after being invited by a farmer friend who was a member of the family's church. "Initially I saw the Rotary club as a great way to make friends in the town and to do things in the area that would benefit the wider community," he says. "As time went by and I realized the work done by Rotary all around the world, I was hooked."

LAST WEEK

Presiding: Jeff Sheehan Invocation/
Pledge: Barbara Marcum
Photographer: Holly Hollenbeck
Chair of the Day: Richard Stanford
Speaker: Sam w. Haynes
Program: "Unsttled Land"

President Jeff Sheehan called the meet- ing to order on another hot Friday/ Barbara Marcum gave the invocation. She then led the Pledge of Allegiance and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mary Bishop introduced one of our guests today, Reese Gould, the Grand Prize winner of the Bike Parade. As well as decor-ating his bike, he wore an Uncle Sam cos-tume and brought a boom box to play music.

Mary Bishop introduced our Market Place Advertiser of the Week, Chris Clausen and CNC Homecare.

The raffle total is up to $1,694. The win- ning ticket was held by Patsy Watson, but she did not win the raffle, The odds keep get- ting better, so buy a ticket next week!

PP Richard Stanford introuvrd our spes- ker today, Sam W. Haynee, who spoke on his book Unsettled Lands . He started by say- ing that when the revolu tion takes place in 1836, half of the people in Texas are people of color. When asked to name three historical figures in Texas, his students always write Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and Davy Crockett. It is always the same people. Davy Crockett was here nine weeks before he died at the Alamo. In his book he tried to recover the voices of people who were important, but less well known.

One was a Cherokee leader Richard Fields The Cherokees were not indigenous to Texas buy came to East Texas in large numbers. Richard Fields thinks differently than other Cherokees. He had been a land speculator in Tennessee. When he came to East Texas, he realized that the Cherokees were squatters. Texas was still a part of new Spain. He wanted to make sure that the Mexican government would recognize the Cherokee homeland, He goes to Mexico City They meet Stephen F. Austin there. They are asking for the same thing, a land grant so the people can live there peacefully. It took a lot of money ro be an impressario, but the Cher- okees did not have it, so the Mexican gov- ernment does not tell them yes, but does not Please remember ...

Eric Nadel with the Ramgers. He has spoken to the club, but is now suffering from depression.

tell them no. However, he goes back to Chero- kee country and tells them that he has been successful. He also starts to recruit other na- tive Americans to live there. After about a year he announces to the local Mexican officials that he is Superior Chief of the Indians, an ap- parently made-up title, and he represents twenty tribes, and that he ie willing to negotiate. Ultimately, his request for land is denied. When he is rebuffed, he gets angry and collaborates with Anglo land speculators in East Texas to create the Republic of Fredonia and declare independence. It all goes wrong for the Chero- kees and they continue to seek land, but in 1839 they are expelled by Mirabeau B. Lamar

The next figure is Lorenzo de Zavala. He is a friend of Antonio Lopez se Santa Anna. Za- vala was a Constitutionalist and a Federalist. When Santa Anna abolishes the Costitution, he writes a blistering "Op-Ed", and declares that he is going to retire in Texas. This sets off alarm bells in Mexico City because Zavala had been ome of the most important figures in Mex- ico for over a decade. He and Santa Anna are now bitter enemies. Santa Anna comes to Tex- as to bring Zavala back to Mexico in chains, He takes part of his army to capture Zavala who is rhe Vice President of Texas who is going to Harrissburg, rather than confronting the army of Sam Houston. Santa Anna is ultimately de- feated at San Jacinto. To understand the Texas Revolution, you must undersfand the relation- ship between De Zavala and Santa Anna.

The third figure is William Goyens. He was a free person of color and was living in Nacog- doches in the eighteen-teens. He was from North Carolina. When he arrived in Nacogdo- ches, he opened a blacksmith shop. He was astonishingly successful. He built a sawmill and a gristmill, and started to speculate in land. He was a very important busi-essman, but was also appointed by Sam Houston to negotiate with the Indians in East Texas..He spoke Cher- okee fluently. He continued to be very influential

THOUGHTS ON . . .

Movies

Never judge a book by its movie.

~ J. W. Eagan

The movies are the only business where you can go out front and applaud yourself.

~ Will Rogers

Some relationships start with fights... But, usually only in romantic comedies. Life's not the movies.

~ Takayuki Ikkaku et al

You go to movies to see people you love suffer - that's why you go to the movies. You don't go to see a movie about a guy who already knows he has a wonderful life.

~ Joss Whedon

In films murders are always very clean. I show how difficult it is and what a messy thing it is to kill a man.

~ Alfred Hitchcock

If I didn't have my films as an outlet for all the different sides of me, I would probably be locked up.

~ Angelina Jolie

Artificial Intelligence: the art of making computers that behave like the ones in movies

~ Bill Bulko

If my film makes one more person miserable, I've done my job.

~ Woody Allen

He served as district governor in] 1997-98 and marked Rotary's centenary year in 2004-05 by serving as president of Rotary International in Great Britain and Ireland.

Shortly before becoming RIBI president, McInally visited Rwanda and South Africa to work with children orphaned by the 1994 Rwandan genocide and by HIV/AIDS. He subsequently helped set up an RIBI partnership project with Hope and Homes for Children, which had been operating in both countries, to support orphans there with food, shelter, medicine, and education toward a sustainable future. McInally is a proud patron of Hope and Homes for Children, which is now supporting the Rwandan government to develop a national child protection system that minimizes family separation and provides family-based alternatives.

McInally's work in Africa has spread to Kenya. Just before the COVID-19 pandemic, he traveled to the country to volunteer as part of an initiative led by Scottish Rotary members. There he carried out dental screenings in Nyumbani Village, a self-sustaining, purpose-built eco-village that provides homes and support for orphaned children and grandparents who serve as their guardians. He also helped renovate residents' accommodations.

"I have found Rotary to be a great vehicle for being able to care for and help others," he says. "Rotary has also given me friends all over the world and, as a consequence, a better understanding of the world in which I live."
